'Ski Girl' Sinks, Love Notes Shown

OXYGEN USED IN FIGHT TO SAVE LIFE

Wife Reveals Plan to Win Back Husband; Letters Sent Both in One Envelope

By WILLIAM RANDORF
International News Service.

NEW YORK, Dec. 1.—May Gledhill, Canadian beauty renowned as the "Girl with the Skis," still battled for life today in Nassau County Hospital.

Her condition turned for the worse last night, and oxygen again was administered.

Doctors still were puzzled by her illness, which they have been unable to diagnose. At first it was thought she had taken poison but now her condition is believed due to a nervous breakdown from fear her baby would be taken from her.

BATTLES FOR LOVE

In the Long Island cottage she shared with Mrs. Inez Connor, wife of the father of her unnamed baby, Mrs. Connor taking care of the child, added a dramatic heartthrob to the story of one of the most curious love triangles.

It was because she had made a determined fight to win back the wholehearted love of her errant husband that she came to live with Miss Gledhill and her two-year old boy, "Sonny," whom she knows as her husband's child, she revealed.

Mrs. Connor's once wealthy husband is serving a prison sentence in Vermont for forgery. He writes regularly to both her and May.

TRADE LOVE NOTES

It was in accordance with her plan to triumph over her rival, for whom she expressed great admiration that Mrs. Connor exchanged the love notes written in a prison cell with the girl, so each might read the other's missive.

What her emotions were when the letters apparently differed in tone she did not disclose. She showed two recent letters. Both were received in the same envelope, for Connor knows both women read them.

While Miss Gledhill's baby played about the living room, Mrs. Connor amplified the story of

PAYMENT READY FOR BANK PATRONS

First National Will Begin Refund to 850 Tomorrow; Others to Get Cash Daily

The First National Bank will pay $3,650,410 to 850 depositors of the closed Bank of Pittsburgh tomorrow. The first group of notices telling depositors to call for dividend orders drawn on the First National for 50 per cent of their deposits was mailed today.

Additional notices will be mailed each day. C. O. Thomas, receiver for the Bank of Pittsburgh, declares that the final notices will be mailed by December 10. He stated that extra effort has made it possible to start the work of making initial payments of $14,000,000 to 17,000 depositors sooner than was originally planned.

AVAILABLE AT ONCE

The depositors will have immediate access to their money as soon as their notices are received. It will merely be necessary for them to call for their orders on the First National Bank, which is prepared to make payments at once.

Thomas emphasized that claimants should not call for their orders until they receive notices. It would be impossible to accommodate all depositors in one day, so that the plan of mailing several hundred daily has been adopted.

The orders to be issued tomorrow will cover accounts ranging in size from 25 cents to $250,000.

SCAN YULE CLUB PLAN

Frank Harper, manager of the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce today declared that a plan adopted in Harrisburg to release Christmas Savings accounts in closed banks would be studied to determine if a similar arrangement could be used here.

The Harrisburg Chamber of Commerce announced the plan today by which depositors having Christmas Savings accounts in closed banks there could obtain 50 per cent of their funds for immediate use.

Under the arrangement, approved by the State Department of Banking, depositors will assign to the Chamber's central agency their Christmas savings accounts and will receive store orders for half the deposits. A three per cent interest charge will be made on the orders to cover operating expenses.

When the banks are liquidated, the bank payments over and above the store orders and interest will be paid by the Chamber of Commerce agency to those using the plan.

DAVIS DONATES $5,000 TO JOB FUND HERE

Ends Tilt With Pinchot Over Contributions to Relief; Total Gifts Near $15,000

Gov. Pinchot and Senator Davis, who have been telling each other how much to give to unemployment relief, agreed today the show was ended.

Senator Davis' last shot was a $5,000 contribution to Pittsburgh's Welfare Fund, announced today although this was not regarded as a fruit of the controversy.

RAISES DONATION

The Senator's financial secretary, Fred W. Jones, said the Davis contribution was raised to $5,000 from an unnamed figure after a second call had been sent out by the Welfare Fund.

Jones estimated the Senator's contribution to welfare work for the year would total more than $15,000. In Sharon, the Senator's home town, Jones said, the Community Chest shows a $75 pledge in the name of Senator Davis' father, David Davis, and the Mayor of Sharon has carte blanche to take care of any needy families at Davis' expense.

The Senator was in Philadelphia today when he dropped the curtain on the debate. He described it to the Associated Press as a "very pleasant, friendly setto."

STARTS ON MELLON

A blow-by-blow resume of the match shows that Pinchot's "invitation" to Secretary of the Treasury Mellon to lend Pennsylvania $1,000,000 for prosperity bonds apparently started the fight.

Senator Davis took up the fight when Secretary Mellon remained silent, by suggesting that the Governor himself supply a million.

The Governor's answer was that the Senator and he contribute the same share of their incomes to unemployment relief.

Davis countered with the proposal both give their entire incomes—and that of their wives.

Pinchot described this proposal as fantastic and retaliated by promising one-fourth of his gross income. This income in 1930 was $52,650.46, Pinchot said.

CROWD KEPT BACK FROM 'DEAD LINE' OF COURT

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
International News Service.

SUPREME COURT CHAMBER, SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 1.—Amid impressive surroundings, the celebrated Mooney pardon hearing before Gov. James Rolph, Jr., of California, got under way today with Mayor James J. Walker, of New York City, ready to make the principal plea for the liberation of Tom Mooney, famous convict.

Gov. Rolph and his board of advisers sat upon a raised dais. Before the bench was a rostrum where the three Mooney advocates, Mayor Walker, Frank P. Walsh and Aaron Sapiro, were to stand as they made their pleas for the life term prisoner who was convicted of participating in the Preparedness Day bombing in San Francisco in 1916 when 10 persons were killed and 40 injured.

COURT GUARDED

Squads of police officers swarmed through the building, taking precautions against possible demonstrations. Outside a cordon of police kept the public back of an established "dead line." Only those with passes signed by the Governor were admitted to the court room.

The throng in front of the building and in the civic center, across the street, pushed and jolted, but they obeyed the instructions of the police. It was evi-

MISS MARY CLOWES

AUCTION BRIDE WOOED BY 12

WASHINGTON, Pa., Dec. 1.—Mary Clowes, 21-year-old New Eagle girl who recently offered her hand in marriage to any respectable man who would give her $10,000 for the support of her father and mother, today was debating the best way to consider 12 proposals of marriage and three proffered business positions.

She said her decision would not be made until she had interviewed all "applicants," and declared she was answering all letters to arrange interviews. She said she was inclined to prefer the proposition of a Carmichaels man who, she announced, offered $30,000, youth and good looks, and to see to her parents' comfort.

All other offers, she said, were attractive, and came from Ohio, New York, Virginia, West Virginia and Pennsylvania. Some offered dates for interviews and said they would arrive in New Eagle this week. The men's ages range from 20 to 40.

Two Pittsburgh stores and a firm in Racine, Pa., offered her positions, with salaries adequate to support her and her parents.

PINCHOT SCORES HOOVER RELIEF

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—(AP.)—A new spearhead of attack upon President Hoover's relief policies fashioned itself today from a demand by Gifford Pinchot, of Pennsylvania, for federal aid to the needy.

Pinchot last night assailed the President's theory of local relief for the unemployed as utterly inadequate, and reached towards the pockets of the rich—his own among them—for the tax funds which he demanded be used for support of the destitute.

The Pennsylvanian uttered his challenge almost at the door of the White House, speaking at a gathering of the District of Columbia's League of Women Voters. He drove down from Harrisburg just for the speech, returning to his own executive mansion immediately.

Speaking in a steady, even tone, Pinchot asserted "local relief

2 DEAD, 2 DYING IN DEER HUNTS

One man was killed, another died of heart disease and two others were probably fatally injured as Pennsylvania ushered in its 1931 deer hunting season, which saw thousands afield.

Paul F. Karl, 40, Altoona, was killed when his gun was accidentally discharged while climbing a fence near Spruce Creek. The other fatality occurred when George W. Sour, 72, Jersey Shore, died in the arms of his son in Wayne County, a victim of a heart attack.

William Haag, 30, of Latrobe, believed dying from a bullet wound in his stomach, was found [illegible] exhaust, police said.

HAWKS IN RACE FOR RECORD

VANCOUVER, British Columbia, Dec. 1.—(AP.)—Racing in an opposite direction over the 1,200-mile Pacific rim of the United States for a new record between Canada and Mexico, Capt. Frank Hawks shot off from Sea Island Airport, near here, at 9 a. m. today, 2 hours 42 minutes after J. R. Wedell zoomed northward from the Mexican border.

Both were firing at the 7-hour, 48-minute Canadian to Mexican border mark set last June by James Goodwin Hall, New York broker. Wedell set the more ambitious program of attempting to smash the record twice by following Hawks back to Agua Caliente, Mexico, from here before nightfall.

Spurred by this competition Hawks, holder of about 30 American and European city-to-city records, hoped to put Wedell's round trip flight in the shade by setting the fastest time one way.

Food Seized in Rum Raids Go to Charity

Sugar, foodstuffs and other usable commodities seized by police in liquor raids will be turned over to charitable institutions, Director of Public Safety James M. Clark and Supt. of Police Peter P. Walsh announced today.

The first contribution was 2,000 pounds of sugar, seized in a raid on a Hill district moonshine distillery early today. It was turned over to the Helping Hand in Water street.

Heath Terms Wife's Divorce Void, Sues

LONDON, Dec. 1.—(INS.)—Sir James Heath today filed suit for divorce from his aviatrix-wife, Lady Mary Heath, on the ground that the divorce she obtained recently in Reno is invalid.

Reginald Williams, whom Lady Heath married in Lexington, Ky., in November, was cited by Sir James as the co-respondent. It was understood the suit would not be defended here.

Hines, Millionaire Lumberman, Dies

EVANSTON, Ill., Dec. 1.—(INS.)—Edward Hines, 68, millionaire lumberman and philanthropist, whose name figured prominently in the national political arena two decades ago, died at his home here early today.

Death was caused by pneumonia induced by heart trouble.

State Church Group Asks Dry Poll

HARRISBURG, Dec. 1.—(INS.)—The Pennsylvania Council of Churches, with a membership of 1,650,000 among 18 denominations, late today came out for a national referendum on the prohibition question.

At its twenty-first annual meeting here, the council unanimously adopted a report of the commission on social service recommending the referendum in order to keep the issue outside of party platforms.

Tom Mix Winning Fight Against Death

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Dec. 1.—(AP.)—Physicians said last night that Tom Mix, motion picture and circus star, was definitely on the road to recovery after lying near death for a week as a result of an attack of perotonitis. The infection began after an operation for appendicitis November 23.

Last Tuesday his doctors had said:

Ex-Amateur Boxing Champ Gets Morrow's Seat

TRENTON, N. J., Dec. 1.—(AP.)—W. Warren Barbour, former Mayor of Rumson and wealthy thread manufacturer, was appointed by Gov. Morgan F. Larson to succeed the late Dwight W. Morrow as United States Senator from New Jersey.

Barbour fought his last public boxing bout in 1911 and at the time was hailed by James J. Corbett as the only boxer worthy to meet Jack Johnson for the heavyweight title. He refrained from entering the professional ranks, however.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—(AP.)—Senate Republican leaders today expressed pleasure at the selection of W. Warren Barbour to succeed the late Snator Dwight W. Morrow.

To avoid any controversy on the floor, the House sent the administration bill providing for a constitutional amendment to permit floating of a bond issue to repay purchasers of the projected "prosperity bonds" back to committee.

A companion measure providing for bond issues of $20,000,000 for relief in future emergencies was postponed for the same reason.

On the other side of the Capitol, the Senate tabled a bill of Senator Woodward of Philadelphia to tax property of public utilities and charitable institutions for the same reason.

Musmanno Offers Income Tax Bill

HARRISBURG, Dec. 1.—(AP)—A 5 per cent state tax on incomes of more than $15,000 per year is provided by a bill offered in the House last night by Representative Musmanno, Allegheny. The measure imposes the tax on all incomes but provides for refunds of the amount of the tax up to $750, thus eliminating the unconstitutional graduated tax feature and making the tax operative only when the income passes the $15,000 mark.

Two Jobless Camps Added in State

GLASS MAKERS OPEN MEETING

Millions now have a decorative as well as a utilitarian value, it was revealed today at the opening session of three national glass and pottery organizations in the William Penn Hotel as leaders began planning a national advertising campaign to show the mirrors decorative value.

VETS RESUME HIKE TO CAPITAL

STEUBENVILLE, O., Dec. 1.—(INS)—Forty-three World War veterans from Portland, Ore., today continued their journey to Washington for a discussion of war compensation after having been held here temporarily as suspected Reds.

The veterans were found huddled in a box car by Pennsylvania Railroad detectives. Judge Randall Buchanan fined each $1 and costs, but later suspended sentence. As an amend, Police Chief Ross Cunningham and his wife provided the wandering veterans with a nourishful meal, while other residents donated food to ease the journey to the Capital.

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Dec. 1.—When 500 hunger marchers stop in Uniontown Saturday on their way to Washington to present demands for unemployment relief they will find no lunch awaiting them. The County Commissioners voted against any appropriation to provide lunches. There is a possibility that permission granted leaders to speak from the courthouse steps may be withdrawn.

RED PARADERS GIVEN LIMIT

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—(AP)—The 14 demonstrators arrested at the White House last Friday for parading without a permit were each given the maximum penalty today, a $100 fine or six months in jail.

Judge I. R. Hitt, in Police Court, imposed the sentences.

Notice of appeal immediately was given by Charles E. Ford, attorney for the defendants, and bond was fixed at $500 apiece.

The trial lasted nearly three hours with defense counsel contesting every scrap of prosecution testimony.

In summarizing, Ford declared the group had peaceably assembled to appeal to the President for relief of a situation that ought to be relieved.

BOY'S LIFE LINKS FATE OF DRY CRUSADER

Reformer to Face Murder Trial If Youth He Shot While Drunk Succumbs

International News Service

CHICAGO, Dec. 1.—By the slender thread of a fast fading life today hung the question of whether or not Daniel L. Gilday, elderly church deacon and dry crusader, must go through the ordeal of a trial for murder.

While the 65-year-old reformer sat in the Englewood jail cell the state moved to bring him to justice for the shooting of Herman Knol, 17-year-old Boy Scout. Gilday says he was trying to save his wife's good name when he fired from the car a pistol shot that struck the youth in the abdomen.

PLANS SWIFT TRIAL

If the bullet wound proves fatal, the veteran advocate of law and order will be rushed to swift trial for murder, it was declared today by Mal Coghlan, assistant prosecutor in charge of the case. If the youth survives, the prosecutor said Gilday will be tried for assault with intent to kill and an additional charge of carrying concealed weapons will be lodged against him.

Coghlan announced he will relentless effort to free the elderly prisoner unless it becomes certain Knol is to survive.

Although he admitted having consumed a few glasses of beer Sunday afternoon shortly before the shooting, Gilday maintained he was under the impression Knol and his companion were trying to rob him. The veteran reformer could not account for the discovery on his person of a half-consumed bottle of whisky, saying he had not purchased the quart.

NOT ENTITLED TO GUN

Pat Roche, chief investigator for the state's attorney's office, said he had given Gilday an investigator's badge, but that the reformer was not thereby entitled to carry a gun. Roche said Gilday had "co-operated" with him in a number of investigations.

The gun, it was revealed, was given Gilday by a federal official. The accused church deacon spoke of his wide acquaintanceship among city, county and federal officials, and said his investigative work had been responsible for the closing of some 75 speakeasies.

HE'S GOING TO WORK

Paul Mellon Taking Job at "the Bank"

SECRETARY A. W. MELLON — PAUL MELLON

U. S. Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, home in Pittsburgh today, and his son, Yale graduate and Cambridge man, who's starting "to learn the bank business" in the Mellon National Bank.

MELLON STARTS SON IN BANK

Paul Mellon went to work today.

The reserved young Yale graduate was escorted into the banking business a few minutes after 9 o'clock by his famous father, Secretary of the Treasury Mellon.

Father and son arrived at the Mellon National Bank in a Mellon car and retired to Secretary Mellon's office where Paul Mellon was asked:

"What are you going to do?"

"I'm going to work. I'm going to learn the banking business."

"In what capacity?"

"Whatever they want me to do."

"Under whom will you work?"

"I don't know yet."

"What about these earlier reports of your literary ambitions?"

"That's all old stuff and it's all been explained."

Secretary Mellon had little to say. He said he has been here over the week-end to attend to private business.

The father was not asked whether it was he who had dissuaded his son from literary leanings he exhibited at Yale.

MOONEY PARDON HEARING OPENS

The reserved young Yale graduate was escorted into the bank- many of them were Mooney dent from their conversation that sympathizers.

Major Walker, accompanied by Walsh and Sapiro, arrived at the court room with State Senator John Hastings, of New York. They were carrying masses of legal documents.

Gov. Rolph mounted the bench a few minutes later. On the Governor's right were seated Matt I. Sullivan, former Chief Justice of the State Supreme Court, and Daniel J. O'Brien, State Director of Penalogy and former Chief of Police in San Francisco.

NAMES COUNSEL

As the session opened, Gov. Rolph read a statement in which he named Sullivan and Byington as his counsel and said O'Brien was sitting with him "for consultation and advice."

The Governor read statements from Theodore J. Roche and John L. McNab, prominent San Francisco attorneys. Roche and McNab explained they preferred not to sit at the hearing.

Mrs. Mary Mooney, 83-year-old mother of the famous convict, arrived before the chamber was opened and took a seat inside the rail near Walker. She was accompanied by her other son, Joe, and a daughter, Anne.

Mrs. Rena Mooney, wife of the prisoner, arrived later.

At a signal from Gov. Rolph, Attorney Walsh began the opening plea for Mooney's pardon. Thanking the Governor for the opportunity granted for the presentation of the case, he said:

"I approach this task with timidity. But, gentlemen, I want to make clear to you that there has been a monumental miscarriage of justice."

Gov. Rolph, a florid-faced man of 62, listened closely, occasionally he made notations. He wore a white carnation in his lapel.

REFUSES PAROLE

Mooney himself complicated the hearing by making public a declaration that under no circumstances would he accept a parole, even though they were offered to him.

The statement was sent to California State Prison, at Quentin, and signed "Tom Mooney, 1921." Mooney said:

"Being innocent, I will for no circumstances can I ask for or accept a parole, and I will infinitely rather end my life in prison than to do

SNELL [illegible] DRY [illegible] IN CONGRESS

Proposed [illegible]ge in Rules Will Ex[illegible]e Revisionists To For[illegible] Vote on Flo[illegible]

By W. S. NEAL
International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—(INS.)—The prohibition issue must be faced by Congress this winter, Representative Bertrand H. Snell, of New York, Republican nominee for speaker of the House, said today.

The declaration was made just before Snell entered a Republican conference to propose a drastic revision of the House rules to meet the charges of the insurgents that they have been "gagged" in the past.

The most important modification of the rules to be offered by Snell provides that 145 members, one-third of the House, can bring a bill to the floor for a vote. This, it is admitted, would permit the anti-drys to force roll-call votes on prohibition. Snell said:

"The issue must be faced."

He did not commit himself, but he is regarded as a dry.

As the Republican nominee for Speaker, Snell also announced that he would seek a compromise with the Wisconsin insurgents. He said:

"We will have to compromise for the good of the party. The Northwestern members will be in any party conference in the future. We must prepare for 1932."

Representatives La Guardia, Rep., New York, and Schneider, Rep., of Wisconsin, both insurgents, aided Snell in preparing the proposed rules changes to be offered to the House Republican conference.

Bingham to Propose Dry Repeal

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—[illegible] amendments to the Constitution, one repealing the Eighteenth Amendment and another providing ratification of the amendments by popular vote, will be proposed by Senator Bingham, Rep., of Connecticut, soon the Senate convenes next week, announced today.

An amendment affecting prohibition would read:

Article 18 of the amendments to this Constitution is hereby repealed. The power to sell or to prohibit the manufacture, sale or transportation of intoxicating liquors is hereby granted to the several states. The Congress shall have the power to regulate the sale or transportation of intoxicating liquors within [illegible] state commerce in a manner not to abridge or deny the rights herein reserved [illegible] states.

Weather Conditions.

High pressure centered over Wyoming this morning, although a trough of low pressure is still influencing the weather in the states east of the Mississippi. A low centered over the Canadian provinces and another over the Gulf of Mexico. This condition is causing showers over the lake region and over Texas and eastward to the Mississippi River, the remainder of the country east of the Mississippi enjoying fair weather. Temperature changes are generally small, but slight rises are expected tonight and Wednesday. Freezing weather is everywhere west of Ohio and 10 degrees above over the Rocky Mountain states.

Dying Boy's Prayer Told In Stepmother's Trial

LEWISBURG, W. Va., Dec. 1.—(AP)—A dying boy's prayer for better treatment of his brothers and sisters by his stepmother was before the court today as the state rested its case at the trial of Mrs. Minnie Stull, charged with murder in the death of her son, Mickey Stull, 7, scalded fatally in a tub of boiling water at their home in Princeton, October 18.

The state asked the death penalty for Mrs. Stull, who previously was convicted in Mercer County, sentenced to life imprisonment and subsequently granted an appeal and a change of venue.

Several state witnesses testified Mickey told them after his removal from the tub that his stepmother had pushed him into it, but Judge Summers H. Sharp ruled out of evidence, upon grounds of incompetency, the boy's deathbed statements.

Mickey's prayer was given to the jury in the testimony of Alma Ciator Hoke, a nurse. She said the boy prayed:

"Oh Lord, please help me this time. You have helped me lots of times before. Please help my mother to be better to the other children than she was to me."

U. S. MARINES PREVENT JAPANESE FROM SEARCHING TRAIN

LEGATION GUARD BARS TOKIO SOLDIERS

Nipponese Authorities Rush More Troops to Front; Fear Attack on Cities

International News Service

TIENTSIN, Dec. 1.—United States Marines, bound for Peiping, where they are to be stationed as a legation guard, refused today to permit Japanese soldiers to search cars on the Peiping-Mukden Railway in which they were riding.

The Japanese, with fixed bayonets, passed through several coaches, but when they reached the cars carrying 100 Marines who had just arrived on the transport Henderson, the Marines barred their way and finally ordered two Japanese out of a coach.

Japan Rushes More Troops Into Manchuria

MUKDEN, Dec. 1.—Hostilities are threatening simultaneously in both North and South Manchuria, according to a communique issued today by Japanese military headquarters here.

It was stated a movement of 3,000 Japanese troops into the Tsitsihar area was due to menacing activities by an equal number of Chinese troops, leading to the fear an attempt would be made to recapture the Heilungkiang capital.

Chinese forces at Chinchow are also being strengthened, the communique said, although all Japanese forces have been withdrawn east of the Liao River.

RAILROAD ATTACKED

Two hundred Chinese bandits last night attacked the Hurhura Railroad station in Northern Manchuria, killed several Chinese guards and robbed the station staff.

Approximately 1,000 Japanese troops landed at Tientsin today and marched to the Japanese concession, which had been under attack within the past few days by Chinese rebels.

Tokio Denies Stimson Influenced Course

By JAMES R. YOUNG
International News Service

TOKIO, Dec. 1.—The attitude of the United States toward the situation in Manchuria is nothing whatever to do with Japan's abandonment of the offensive against Chinchow and withdrawal of troops from along the Peiping-Mukden Railway line, the Japanese War Office declared in a vigorous statement tonight.

The statement asserts that Gen. Shigeru Honjo, commander of Japanese forces in Manchuria, issued orders for the withdrawal on Friday afternoon. The first reports of Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson's interview with newspaper correspondents expressing "surprise" at renewed Japanese activity toward Chinchow were not received until some 12 hours later, it was pointed out. The statement said:

"Our policy is fixed, and no amount of pressure from outside will cause us to modify it.

"Action of the Japanese military is an imperial prerogative and no one but the Emperor can interfere.

"Thuss no foreign country will be able to check the action of Japanese forces. If the Chinese fail to withdraw into the Great Wall and act in a hostile manner, we shall be compelled again to move our troops in the direction of Chinchow."

The statement was believed to have been prompted by speculation in various sections of the foreign press and in diplomatic circles as to how greatly Secretary Stimson's remarks influenced the course of events in Manchuria.

League Completes Draft For Manchurian Peace

PARIS, Dec. 1.—(AP.)—Japan's demand for the right to take action against bandits in Manchuria was not included in the final Manchurian resolution completed late this afternoon by the drafting committee of the League of Nations Council.

The resolution was submitted immediately to the Japanese and Chinese delegates, who transmitted it ot their governments for instructions.

It was expected that Aristide Briand would make reference to the Japanese demand when and if the council adopts the resolution in plenary session.

France Plans New Washington Embassy

PARIS, Dec. 1.—(AP.)—The government introduced a bill in the Chamber of Deputies yesterday to appropriate $1,040,000 for a new French embassy at Washington. Of the total, $500,000 would be taken from the 1931-1932 budget.

EX-PITT CO-ED FUNERAL HELD

Funeral services for pretty Doris Wilson, 26, University of Pittsburgh graduate, who fired a shot into her heart following a quarrel with her escort early Sunday, were to be held in her Evans City home today.

Hours of intense grilling by state police of Butler barracks, failed to elicit from the girl's escort, Richard Kelly, 28, a piano player of Evans City, the nature of the quarrel preceding the shooting.

The youth, however, gave particulars to Miss Wilson's father, Dr. H. M. Wilson, a well-known Evans City physician. Dr. Wilson later declared his daughter had taken her life following a quarrel of a "very personal" nature. Kelly was released.

The Butler County Coroner's verdict was suicide. Police held Kelly when he refused to talk, but released him later in the day. They said Kelly had been drinking.

Mails Stresses Seals In Tuberculosis War

Need of added efforts to combat any spread of tuberculosis was stressed today by Dr. C. B. Maita, director of City Public Health Department, in an appeal for support of the Christmas Seal sale of the Tuberculosis League of Pittsburgh. Dr. Maita cited the greater difficulties confronted through the increase of hunger among children of the poorer classes.

INDIAN PARLEY FAILURE, SAYS MACDONALD

Prime Minister Winds Up Conference; Gandhi to Spur Disobedience Drive

LONDON, Dec. 1.—(AP.)—Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald closed the second round table conference today with a declaration that it had failed to settle the communal problem, but that the work of arranging independence for India would go on.

Mahatma Gandhi, in his final word, said that as far as he could determine from listening to the Prime Minister's address, he and the British government had reached the parting of the ways.

The Mahatma, breaking his Monday day of silence at 1 a. m. this morning, steadfastly refused compromises proposed by some of his colleagues and declared that he would return to India determined to revive the civil disobedience campaign unless the government would give what he considered "real liberty" to India's millions of people.

The work of the conference, the Prime Minister said, would be continued through a committee. While the delegates applauded, he said the present national government fully accepts the promises of the previous labor government as to India's future.

The goal, he said, is a federation of autonomous provinces and states, but he added that the Indians, being unable to agree among themselves, His Majesty's government has no intention of "forcing responsibility upon those who are not prepared to assume it."

The Prime Minister pleaded with Mahatma Gandhi not to depart from the ways of conciliation. He said:

"My dear Mahatma, let us go the way of friendship. It is the best way and you may find it is the only way. It is certainly a way which will enable both of us to take great pride in our work."

Facetiously, he referred to the possibility that Mr. Gandhi might be chairman of the next round table conference in India, and said:

BOY KILLS GIRL RE-ENACTING TRAGEDY

Shot From 'Unloaded' Gun Fatal as Youth Describes Dual Slaying by Another

International News Service

CHICAGO, Dec. 1.—Within the space of a few hours a shooting tragedy and its playful re-enactment today left in their wake two schoolgirls and one boy dead, while another youth was in the custody of police.

One of the girls, Ruth Wicklund, 12, died at the hands of her adolescent sweetheart, Henry Sio, 16, who shot in a jealous rage and then ended his own life with a bullet through the brain.

The second girl, Constance Triphatos, 15, was the victim of a boyish reproduction of the other shooting staged by Joseph Wilson, 16, who did not know the gun was loaded.

From accounts he had read in the newspapers, Joseph was showing Constance how Ruth Wicklund had been shot. He pointed his revolver at the girl and pulled the trigger four times. The fourth discharge of the weapon was not that of a wooden shell as he had thought, but of a real bullet. It entered the girl's brain, killing her instantly.

USED WOODEN BULLETS

At the police station, Joseph told authorities he had no intimation that a real bullet existed in the magazine of his gun. He had loaded it only with wooden imitations, he said.

Constance and her sister, Cleo, 17, had gone to Joseph's home last night to borrow some books when the three young persons began discussing the killing of the Wicklund girl and the fatal re-enactment took place.

SLAYS GIRL, SELF

The deaths of Ruth Wickland and Henry Sio were set down as murder and suicide by a coroner's jury following an inquest. Witnesses said Henry had met Ruth while the girl was on her way to school. The boy voiced objections to the girl's attention to other youths, and suddenly whipped out a revolver and shot her twice as she begged for mercy. Then Henry rushed home and took his own life.

Three of the principals in the two tragedies, Henry, Joseph and Constance, were students of the same high school.

School Feud, Fatal To One, Probed

CROWN POINT, Ind., Dec. 1.—(INS.)—An investigation of feuds among pupils in the public schools here, which have resulted in one death, was being pressed today by Circuit Judge E. Miles Norton.

Existence of the feuds was disclosed with the fatal shooting of Harold Seymour, 12, by Wilbur Sherman, a fellow student, on November 2.

The Judge declared he had information the Seymour killing was the outgrowth of a well-defined feud between pupils. Outbreaks between factions occur two or three times a week, he said.

Steam Produced Without Boiling

NEW YORK, Dec. 1.—(AP.)—A new boiler which produces steam without first boiling the water was described to the American Society of Mechanical Engineers today.

POLICE CHASE 'HILL' LEADER

Arrested, he forfeited his $30 bond by failing to appear, so Police Supt. Peter P. Walsh ordered him rearrested for disorderly conduct.

Patrolman Bernard Dluzensky, in Central Police Court, testified he chased Colangelo from the Crown Hotel at 601 Wylie avenue after he, the patrolman, had followed three girls there. And the patrolman quoted Colangelo as threatening:

"You're the cop that's been causing me trouble. I reported you to Supt. Walsh once. Do I have to do it again?"

Heatedly, Walsh denied any such report, asking:

"Who does he thinks he is? If the Crown Hotel is a disorderly house, I'll order it raided."

PITTSBURGHERS FOR DRY POLL

First results of the poll being taken of the Seventy-second Congress by the Women's Organization for National Prohibition Reform to determine the legislators' sentiment relative to a referendum by the states, on the Eighteenth Amendment, were made public today.

They revealed that of the 251 Congressmen who have replied to the questionnaires, 149 were in favor of the referendum, 49 were opposed to it and 53 were noncommittal. This leaves 280 Congressmen yet to reply.

Congressmen P. J. Sullivan, Harry A. Estep and Guy Campbell of Pittsburgh, voted in favor of the referendum as did Beck, Ransley, Golder, Connolly, Darrow, Wolfenden, Boland and Lichtenwalner, all Pennsylvanians. Representative McFadden voted against submission, while Watson, Rich and Coyle were noncommittal.

Neither of the Pennsylvania Senators has replied.

DEATH OF AMES LAID TO RUM

NEW YORK, Dec. 1.—(AP.)—Edema of the brain and a slight disorder of the heart were given yesterday by Dr. Alexander O. Gettler, city toxicologist, as the cause of the death last Friday of Robert Ames, stage and screen actor.

Dr. Gettler said edema of the brain is the result of excessive drinking over a long period. When Ames was found dead in a hotel room there were several empty liquor bottles on a table.

A chemical analysis of the organs disclosed, also, traces of a bromide of a type taken to quiet the nerves. No signs of narcotics or poison were found.

The body was taken to the home of the actor's father, in Hartford, Conn., where funeral services will be conducted today.

BRISBANE RAPS BRUTAL AGE

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 1.—(Universal).—Arthur Brisbane, speaking at the luncheon-meeting of the Life Underwriters' Association yesterday, declared that because we are so near to the stone age victories of the body and mind are still more important to us than triumphs of the mind alone.

"The power of the mind and body overcomes the opponent; we of my calling can only convince. We still have an instinctive feeling that to knock a man out has a value that merely convincing him does not possess."

Brisbane condemned unsparingly the lending of money on insurance policies and declared the law which requires it should be changed because it deprives the wife and children of protection.

REED PROPOSES ALL PAY TAX

Senator David A. Reed, in Wilkinsburg to address businessmen at the invitation of the Rotary Club today, declared that three government insurances that are to be introduced at the next session of Congress are burdens that no country can endure.

Enumerating the insurance plans, Reed declared he would fight them all. He said:

"At the next session of Congress they will try to impose three insurances: rain insurance, by which I mean the government helping communities stricken by drought of flood; farm relief and unemployment insurance.

"I will fight against them all because no government on earth can take the burden of these three insurances and endure."

Reed also declared in his address that he does not think the millionaire should carry all the tax burdens and offered a plan of taxation he has evolved. He said:

"I am not in favor of making the millionaire pay all the taxes, but I do think he should pay a larger per cent than the rest. My plan of tax would be ½ of 1 per cent of every man's income after the necessities of life, such as food, clothing and rent, have been deducted.

"I have figured this out, and the most it could be would be $5 out of an income of a making $2,000 a year."

New Naval Chief Here Finds Talk Only Task

Commander Charles Milford James, U. S. N., reported at the Navy Recruiting Station in Pittsburgh today to remain at least a year and a half, tending to the Navy's business.

A noted sailor, he will have no recruiting to do and he will be at the head of a shipless crew.

Recruiting has been abandoned due to the Navy economy program, and the one little river cruiser the Navy uses here to train has been put to bed for the winter.

Decorated for valor in the World War, Commander James has helped officer the giant battleship Mississippi and cruiser San Francisco, of which he was chief.

He plans to do some work, however. He will make speeches. He said:

"There'll not be much recruiting. My work here will be instructive."

He is provided with motion pictures and sound equipment to talk in churches, high schools, clubs and other places.

POPE TO ISSUE ENCYCLICAL

VATICAN CITY, Dec. 1.—(AP)—Pope Pius XI will issue an encyclical just before Christmas commemorating the fifteen hundredth anniversary of the Council of Ephesus, it was learned here today.

The Council of Ephesus, convened by Nestorius of Constantinople and condemned as heresy his teachings that Christ had a second human personality and that the Virgin Mary was not the mother of God.

It is expected that in the forthcoming encyclical the Pontiff's appeal for reunion of the Nestorian or Persian Church is centered on Persia and Iraq with the Roman Catholic Church and that the Nestorian Assyrians exalt the Virgin Mary.

The Pope has ordered extensive celebrations in the ancient see of Ephesus and December 8 will be borne in procession to the tomb of Peter's disciple the mass

Pinchot Attacks Hoover's Relief Policies

means making the poor man pay." From it, he contended, would come an increase in property taxes either now or very shortly. He declared:

"That program can start no factory wheels, yet in the absence of Congress, it is to that program we have been committed. Federal relief is demanded by every principle of justice, humanity and of sound economics.

Leaders of several liberal organizations met yesterday to discuss unemployment on the eve of the extraordinary congressional session. They selected the government relief program. Norman Thomas, Socialist presidential candidate, and other Socialist Progressives in Congress have failed.

Attacking current economic conditions, Pinchot said concentration of wealth had reduced purchasing power and had increased production beyond the limits of demand. The result, he added, was the recent economic slump.

ASKS HIGHER TAXES

As to the tax issue with the administration's reported plan for putting a selected sales tax as a means of meeting the treasury deficit, Pinchot pleaded for higher income tax rates on the higher incomes to solve the deficit problem and that of unemployment relief as well. This scheme would affect him personally, he said, as his income tax return falls in the higher brackets. He continued:

"But I am willing that the government take more of my income rather than that millions should suffer from want and hunger. I would be glad to see more of my estate appropriated in taxes, if it be used to help set this nation on its economic feet."

Federal relief was described as the only possible answer to the question by Pinchot. He continued:

"Those in high places have continually insisted that a national emergency be met with local aid alone. They have left it all with the exception of a bit of benevolent advertising, to the states and communities themselves."

CHESTS INADEQUATE

He said community fund chests could not be sufficient to meet the needs of the winter, "even though full quotas were raised."

Pinchot referred to Mr. Hoover's administration of the Department of Commerce in saying that as early as 1921 reports were made that many large industries were overdeveloped. He said:

"Yet throughout the whole decade the Department of Commerce used every power of persuasion to bring industry to the highest point of mass production. If men were thrown out of work by labor-saving devices or by mergers, it was all in the cause of more production."

Pointing to the Harding regime, Pinchot said recommendations of the United States Coal Commission to stabilize the bituminous industry were killed in cold blood while the administration looked calmly on.

Of President Coolidge's statement that brokers' loans were not too high during the days of inflation, Pinchot said:

"Never before had a President undertaken to support the stock market."

Recent statements that prosperity was just around the corner only helped to delay any steps toward stabilization, he added.

Pinchot Blast Worries Hoover Managers

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—(AP)—Cheered by the decision of Vice President Curtis to stand by the national Republican ticket in 1932, leaders of the Hoover forces today were sizing up a fresh anti-administration attack by Pinchot of Pennsylvania.

Gov. Pinchot's attack last on the administration's relief gram and his demand for federal aid showed the dir of the 1932 Hoover danger in Republican contest.

This attack will be renew Congress by the western Re can independents under Sen Borah of Idaho and Norr Nebraska. The potentiality these two for a presidential cam paign is constantly weighed the members.

Senator Johnson of Califor assailing the Hoover for policies, is causing consider thought also. The Californian been asked to get into the si dent contest and his en silence is provoking a lot of guessing.

Ship Fast in Ice Pack 2 Months Disappears

POINT BARROW, Alaska, Dec. 1.—(AP)—The treacherous Arctic ice pack quiet after a three-day storm today held the secret of the disappearance of the vessel Baychimo lost in the shifting ice.

Whether it was ground to pieces and sunk where it had been frozen in for two months some 60 miles south of here, or carried away to sea by the moving floes, was not known by the five members of the crew, who had been living in winter quarters on shore.

A high ridge remained in the ice pack where the steel-hulled vessel had been resting, the crew reported in a message received here last night, but no trace of the wreckage could be found.

For [illegible] that she [illegible] Florrie [illegible] —a home.

Christ[illegible] This [illegible] Christmas [illegible] boarding [illegible] puny at[illegible] stage [illegible] She want[illegible] that she [illegible] the stree[illegible] towered [illegible] beneath [illegible] and pa[illegible]

Many [illegible] cranky [illegible] dentists [illegible] all [illegible] chance [illegible] her [illegible]

The ensuing months were the nearest that Florrie had ever come to heaven. As early as November she was haunting the five-and-ten-cent stores in a search for Christmas tree ornaments. I'm not certain that many men will understand the importance that Florrie attached to this tree, but I know that plenty of women will.

Hers was going to be the biggest tree in Brookline, one that would [illegible] of [illegible] every [illegible] that [illegible] every window.

During the first two weeks in December she was very busy [illegible]. The biggest, brightest balls. The longest, whitest tinsel. Everything was [illegible] along [illegible] And then [illegible] for dolls and stuff.

It was [illegible] George on the [illegible] of December 18. But [illegible] was [illegible] chain [illegible] to [illegible] George. He [illegible] was [illegible] the [illegible] was [illegible] with [illegible] and joy.

"Good [illegible]," Florrie [illegible]. "Oh, I'm [illegible] the happiest of [illegible] you [illegible] what happened?"

"[illegible] No," said George. "[illegible] was where. Would [illegible] she [illegible] No, she was [illegible]. She did [illegible] was [illegible] me."

"I [illegible]," said George. "[illegible] me [illegible] to [illegible] have me crazy [illegible]?"

"[illegible] big news?"

But he was a [illegible] He [illegible] out his chest in grand [illegible] fashion.

"I've been promoted," he cried proudly. "Your husband is a big shot now. Would you believe it, Florrie, they've made me auditor [illegible] the eastern territory [illegible] and get [illegible] of the [illegible] eastern territory [illegible] her [illegible]!"

Florrie threw her arms around him.

"That's wonderful," she agreed. Suddenly she stepped back. Something cold seemed to clutch at her heart.

"What will that mean, George?" she asked. "What happens now that you're the auditor?"

"It means, dearest," he murmured happily, "that we're going to get out of this rut. It means that we're going places and seeing things. We start next week, baby, and we're going to travel. It means that we spend Christmas in Philadelphia!"

Two Bandits Get $109 In Philadelphia Hotel

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 1.—(INS.)—Two bandits robbed the cash register of the Rittenhouse Hotel of $109 early today after threatening an elevator operator with death. Scores of guests were unaware of the robbery until police arrived on the scene.

Mrs. Hoover's Poem Now Set to Music

NEW YORK, Dec. 1.—(AP.)—Mrs. Herbert Hoover's poem "Recollections of a Piece of Wood," has been set to music. Mairy Madison, song writer, announced yesterday he had written a melody for the verses and called the song "Story Tree."

Congress Ban Asked On Drinking Voyages

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—(AP.)—There will be no more drinking excursions aboard palatial liners to just beyond the 12-mile limit, if the Shipping Board can convince Congress.

The annual report of the board asked legislation to prevent these "voyages to nowhere" by foreign ships.

Ohio Carpenter Shot; Believed Accidental

SORE THROAT

FIVE minutes after you rub Musterole your throat should begin to feel less sore! Continue the treatment once every hour for five hours and you'll be astonished at the relief.

This famous blend of oil of mustard, camphor, menthol and other ingredients brings relief naturally. Musterole gets action because it is a "counter-irritant"—not just a salve—it penetrates and stimulates blood circulation and helps to draw out infection and pain. Used by millions for 20 years. Recommended by doctors and nurses.

To Mothers—Musterole is also made in milder form for babies and small children. Ask for Children's Musterole.

Pittsburgh Must Meet Its Responsibility

THE Allegheny County Welfare-Emergency Fund Drive, despite a week's extension, is still short of its goal. Other cities, practically without exception, have achieved their quotas—many of them have gone impressively over the top.

It is unthinkable that Pittsburgh should fail in its responsibility in this great emergency.

There is a challenge in this call for help from within our borders that cannot go unheeded by any citizen or any business. Pittsburgh's honor and reputation for achievement are at stake; the welfare, comfort, health, and possibly the lives of human beings are involved.

The drive should go on until every penny required is forthcoming.

The Joseph Horne Co., along with thousands of other business institutions, has already made its contribution. Our employees also have given generously—"four times last year's contribution", the Welfare Committee reports.

Nevertheless the Joseph Horne Co. is willing to give again. We believe that Pittsburgh can, and should, make its quota. As one of the city's oldest institutions, and one vitally concerned in all that affects its well being and progress, we are ready to be among the leaders in helping to raise the final sum necessary to put the Fund over the top.

To start the ball rolling, we will give

Ten Percent (10%) Of All Our Sales

tomorrow, Wednesday, December 2nd. to the Allegheny County Welfare-Emergency Fund.

The Welfare Executive Committee will be asked to check Wednesday's sales, Thursday morning, collect 10% of the total amount, and report.

The public can help say how much the amount shall be, by anticipating Christmas and seasonal purchases tomorrow, Wednesday, December 2nd. In the ordinary course of events, 10% of a December day's sales at this store is a substantial sum, but with the cooperation of the public the amount can be greatly increased.

If you have already given all you feel you can afford, and would like to give again, you can do so by making necessary or contemplated purchases on Wednesday, December, 2nd.

Make TWO gifts for one by Christmas shopping on Wednesday, December 2nd—the gift you choose, and the 10% gift to the Relief Fund through your purchase.

Where There's a Will There's a Way

—and Pittsburgh must supply the will! Others will follow this example, we are confident. New methods and suggestions will be forthcoming, and the needed sum will be surely raised. All shoulders to the wheel, Pittsburgh! The Welfare Drive must go over!

PAJAMAS

It's folly to smother yourself under a bedful of blankets. It's equally foolish to shiver under too-light coverings. The sensible way to sleep is inside one of these warm flannelette pajamas—

Nine Ways These Kaufmann Pajamas Are Better:

1. All colors guaranteed absolutely fast.
2. Cut and proportioned for proper, comfortable fit.
3. Fine stitching of unusual strength.
4. Good quality buttons, put on to stay.
5. Tailored buttonholes.
6. Flat seams to keep you comfortable.
7. Comfort and ease in all positions.
8. A wide range of correct, exclusive patterns.
9. Each garment undergoes minute inspection to assure your satisfaction.

Woman Strangled, Mate's Throat Cut

ILION, N. Y., Dec. 1 (AP)—Harry Slitter and his wife, Anne, middle-aged, were found dead in their apartment here, the man's throat slashed and the woman strangled to death.

Both had been dead for several hours when Dr. J. F. Leonard was called to the apartment yesterday. He said he did not know who made the telephone call. Slitter was a railroad employe. A Coroner declined to discuss whether it was a murder and suicide.

Action Without Harm Whenever Constipated

Here's a way to be rid of constipation and its ills—a way that works quickly, effectively, but gent.

A candy Cascaret at night—the next morning you're feeling fine. Breath is sweetened; tongue cleared; biliousness, headaches, dizziness, gas vanish. Repeat the treatment two or three nights to get the souring waste out of your system. See how appetite and energy return; how digestion improves.

The action of Cascarets is sure, complete, helpful to everyone. They are made from cascara, which doctors agree actually strengthens bowel muscles. All drug stores have the 10c boxes.

County Postpones Bid Opening Date

Opening of bids advertised by the County Commissioners has been postponed from today until later in the week, due to the absence from town of the two commissioners.

'TOY MATINEE' TO AID NEEDY CHILDREN

All Youngsters Who Bring Old Playthings to Movies Will Be Admitted Free

Hundreds and hundreds of children whose Christmas would perhaps be toyless—the children in the orphanages, the hospitals and the homes submerged by the depression—can look forward with expectation to the collection of toys of every description that has been arranged for them for Thursday afternoon at the downtown Harris Theater and the neighborhood Warner Theaters.

Arrangements have been completed for a mammoth drive for toys under the auspices of the Sun-Telegraph - Warner Theaters Junior Komic Club. The drive will close Thursday, when several thousand members of this big boy and girl club will go to their neighborhood theater and present a toy for admission to the show.

There will be no other charge—just a toy that will bring sunshine to some other little boy or girl whose Christmas might otherwise be dreary.

ALL CHILDREN INVITED

The admission to these theaters upon the presentation of a toy at the door is, in this case, not restricted to the Junior Komic Club membership. Every boy and girl, whether or not they belong to the club, is invited to come to the show and bring a toy for some other less fortunate boy or girl.

Now about the toys. Bring the best you can. They need not be new. They may have been well employed in making other children happy, but just because they have been used does not mean that they have lost their power to bring cheer into another home. Even if they are broken or a little dilapidated, they will be accepted at the theater, because every toy—doll, wagon, train, jumpingjack, game or "what-have-you"—will be turned over to the Toy Mission for renovation.

HUNT OLD TOYS

It is expected that the children of Pittsburgh will contribute thousands of toys, and the Toy Mission faces a mighty task to get them all in shape in time for distribution on Christmas Day.

Each theater will be open for free admission and the receipt of toys from 2 o'clock until 5 o'clock Thursday afternoon. So, in the meantime, rummage around in your home, find the toys that have served their purpose and are still worth reclaiming, bring them to the Warner neighborhood theaters. You'll see a big show and at the same time do your bit toward helping the hundreds of other children who otherwise might have a hopeless holiday.

Here are the names of the theaters where toy matinees will be held: Harris (downtown), Arsenal, Belmar, Cameraphone, Enright, Harris (Etna), Kenyon, Manor, Mt. Oliver, Harris, Plaza, Rowland (Wilkinsburg), Schenley, South Hills (Dormont), Prince (Ambridge), and Memorial (McKeesport).

County Road Damage Of $60,000 Sought

Mark D. Kuhn asked $60,000 damages from Allegheny County for his property in Springdale Township taken to improve the Freeport road, instead of $18,938.20 allowed him by the Board of Viewers, in an appeal filed in Common Pleas Court. A strip 3,500 feet long, comprising about six acres, was taken, and the change of grade damaged other property, he claimed.

Motor Club Offers Free Road Reports

The Pittsburgh Motor Club has completed arrangements to have accurate snow and ice reports on all main highways within a radius of several hundred miles of the city during the winter. The information will be given without charge to all motorists who request it. The touring bureau of the motor club in the William Penn Hotel is open 24 hours a day.

DOPE? DRUGS? NO

THIS COUGH SYRUP IS SAFE FOR CHILDREN

SO MANY cough syrups must rely on DOPE for their results. Dope—that means opium—morphine—chloroform—ether—and other drugs.

Smith Brothers' Triple Action Cough Syrup contains NO DOPE. Not a trace of it. Instead of dope, the far more effective—but SAFE—principle of "Triple Action" does the work. It (1) soothes the throat, (2) loosens phlegm, (3) clears air passages . . . Even a stubborn cough stops—fast! . . . Children (and husbands) like the taste! Only 35c.

"Little Minnie came home from school sneezing and coughing. I had never seen her with such a cold, and I was scared! I put her to bed and gave her some Smith Brothers' Syrup. It was simply wonderful. Within an hour her throat felt better, she slept well and in the morning she was fine and dressed again." Mrs. E. Austin, 2525 University Ave., New York.

SUN-TELEGRAPH
DOLL LADY "HONEYBUNCHES"

She has already secured one dolly and wants another for her little sister

Read the Doll Lady's Message Today—

This Is "Honeybunch"—Isn't She a Darling?

Dear Little Girls:—

Among the many interesting letters I am getting every day was one from a little girl who was among the first to get a "Honeybunch" this year. She said that she was in love with her new dolly, but that she had a younger sister and would have to share it with her unless she could get another one. What she really wanted to know was whether or not it was alright to get another "Honeybunch." Well, I wrote right back to her and said that if she would do again what she had done to get her first doll, she could have a second "Honeybunch." And that rule will apply to any other little girl. One, two or three—I don't care how many they get so long as they do what I ask them to do for each dolly.

Well, things are beginning to hum faster and faster around this Doll Lady's headquarters. Every mail brings in hundreds of letters from little girls who want this glorious "Honeybunch," and every mail brings in satisfactory answers from little girls who have already succeeded in doing the simple easy things I asked them to do. And, better still, many of the girls have already secured their doll. Incidentally, they are the happiest little girls I have ever seen. When they put their arms around "Honeybunch" their eyes glistened like diamonds.

I've written so much about "Honeybunch" that it is really difficult to write anything new. I'll confess that she's adorable and that I'm just as much in love with her as you will be. She's as big as a live baby, she rolls her eyes and goes to sleep, has a charming voice, indestructible rubber arms and hands, organdy clothes in dainty colors, a chic lace cap, shoes and stockings to match, a pacifier and rubber panties. You've really got to have a "Honeybunch" all to yourself to appreciate what a marvelous doll she is.

"Honeybunch" isn't at all hard for you to get. Fill in the coupon at the bottom of this letter, and send it to me today and by return mail I'll send you a letter telling just what you have to do to get one all for yourself. And I'll also send you a picture of "Honeybunch" in colors.

MINE JURY TOLD OF DEATH MEET

MT. STERLING, Ky., Dec. 1.—(INS.)—A story of a secret midnight meeting of jerk-up miners where a crude parliamentary fashion a vote was taken on the question of killing a deputy sheriff was delivered today in the Circuit Court as the defense started to fight the first degree murder case against W. B. Jones, mine union official.

The story of the accused meeting where death threats were made by "unique secrets" along with the "air of a whipping administered to a man who refused to join a miners' union were related by the state's witnesses in bringing the state's case to an end.

Defense attorneys, trying to save Jones from the electric chair and free him of the charge of causing the murder of four men at Evarts, Ky., on May 5, planned to start an immediate attack on the whole story woven by the state, indicating they would call 125 witnesses. Seventy-six were used by the state.

STEEL MAN DIES IN HOTEL FALL

NEW YORK, Dec. 1.—(INS.)—William C. Prendergast, 55, steel executive, plunged to his death from a 14-story window in a Fifth avenue hotel today when he lost his balance while trying to fix a radio aerial.

His wife, Mrs. Anna Couch Prendergast, was too far away from him to catch him as he fell. Horror-stricken, she rushed to the window a moment too late to save him.

Stock Fortune Gone, Man Leaps to Death

CHICAGO, Dec. 1.—(INS.)—Plunging eight stories from his hotel room to the sidewalk, George Francis Houghan, 54-year-old stock promoter who is said to have lost a fortune in stock transactions, was dead today, an apparent suicide.

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist.

Irwin D. Wolf Makes Address at Ad Club

In the cleverly captioned talk "Toot Toot," which Irwin D. Wolf of Kaufmann's gave before the Woman's Advertising Club yesterday, he likened a business firm to an orchestra and the advertising writers to the horn blowers. He emphasized the necessity of fitness in type and layout, ending in harmony with the firm's policies. Mr. Wolf was introduced by Charles H. Joseph, of Plait & Seder's, who was presided by the club president, Mrs. Martha Gilchrist.

Miss Margaret Herron Weds Frank B. Pope II

Miss Margaret Herron, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John S. Herron of Hamilton avenue, and Frank Buckey Pope II, son of the Anthony Popes of Dartmouth street, were married Saturday evening in the Pittsburgh Athletic Club by the Rev. F. W. Shorey, D.D.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore white velvet with a veil of tulle arranging from a cap of Duchess lace. She carried calla lilies.

Her maid of honor and only attendant, Estelle Maxwell, wore Persian red velvet and carried fall flowers. Mark Wainwright was best man. Mrs. Herron, mother of the bride, wore blue velvet and had a corsage of gardenias. A reception and dinner dance followed the ceremony. After January 1 the Popes will be at home in Hamilton avenue.

Archaeological Society To Open Season Dec. 9

The first meeting of the current season will be held by the Pittsburgh Society, Archaeological Institute of America, on Wednesday evening, December 9, at the home of the president, G. L. Hallman, Wilkins avenue.

After election of officers the members will hear a lecture on Bibles, archaeology by the Rev. Dr. Joseph MacNaughton Waterman, rector of Trinity Episcopal Church in Parkersburg, W. Va. This lecture, "From the Galilee Man to the Man of Galilee," is illustrated with slides and the lecturer shows many archaeological discoveries that have thrown light on the Bible.

Dr. Waterman holds degrees from Harvard, Virginia Seminary and Kenyon.

Patricia Pitt's Sprightly Comment on Pittsburgh's Society Events

RISE OF AMERICAN LITERATURE SEEN

Traditional English to Be Cast Into Discard by Our Moderns 20th Century Club Told

America within the next 50 years will have a great literature of her own and it will not be written in the traditional English, but in the American language. Prof. Robert Emmons Rogers, of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, said yesterday in his address before the Twentieth Century Club. Moreover, it will not look at life from an ivory tower; it will look on life nearby and as it is, he added. Prof. Rogers mentioned Ring Lardner, Ernest Hemingway and H. L. Mencken in "the great mass of those who are writing American."

In his witty and illuminating talk which was on "Our Changing American Literature," Prof. Rogers divided American literature into three periods, first the aristocratic period, which began with Irving, Bryant, Hawthorne, Poe and included the abolitionists and transcendtalists, in which every writer had the same background of culture, a period ending with the Civil War.

The next period Prof. Rogers termed the genteel period, with all that word implies (1865-1900). Its writers attempted to be aristocratic and failed and were curiously lacking in depth, clarity and power. They believed real literature was of the faraway and the long ago and theirs was the thinnest, poorest and least inspired of all American writings. Edith Wharton and Booth Tarkington are all that are left of the genteel traditions, he stated.

Dominant Forces

The dominant forces at the present time, he said, are Theodore Dreiser, Sherwood Anderson, Sinclair Lewis, Carl Sandburg and Eugene O'Neill.

Prof. Rogers spoke of the present period as "the tragic," since it stands between the one that is not yet dead and the one not ready to be born. Its writers have certain things in common—their names are no longer English, but increasingly continental European, they are all self-made, all are writing the American language which is trimmed down and thinned out until it is the most elementary means of communication, and their views of life are the same. It is not impossible that two languages may be necessary, English and American, Prof. Rogers said, recalling that Sinclair Lewis was compelled to publish a glossary with his "Main Street." And it is not impossible, he added, that the methods of teaching English will be changed, for early English literature "has nothing to say to the girls and boys of today" and it forces them to "corner drugstore reading."

Reports of the stay-in-school testing committee will be made Friday at a luncheon meeting of the educational department, Allegheny County Federation of Women's Clubs, in Kaufmann's.

CLUB NOTES

Yuletide Bridge

In place of its regular December meeting, the Junior Section, Woman's Club of Crafton, will have a Christmas bridge party tonight in Wood's Hall. Each member has been asked to bring a donation of staple groceries, which will be given to the Crafton Borough Welfare Committee by the club's welfare committee, of which Miss Lucy Ziel is chairman.

The juniors' welfare committee will sponsor the annual Christmas dance to be held at the William Penn Hotel on December 29. Miss Ziel will be assisted by Miss Ruth Holland, who is in charge of tickets and Miss Lillian Riggs, who is chairman of publicity. Proceeds from this affair will also be used for local welfare work.

Another activity for which Miss Ziel's committee was responsible was the recent visit to the Veterans' Hospital when the girls spent an evening at bridge with the patients.

Most Women Suffer Through Secret Love Affairs, Fay King Asserts

By FAY KING.

He kissed and told.

All such men do.

No girl can expect any such man to keep their relations a secret from all the world. Such affairs are a man's game, and he can no more resist bragging over his conquest than a hunter can keep it a secret that he has got his game.

In fact rather than have it thought that any woman could outsmart and resist him, such a man will infer that an intimacy exists whether it does or not.

The only women who do not suffer through secret love affairs are those who wouldn't care if the whole world knew.

She must expect to lose the man she surrenders to and have no regrets.

Few women can love so lightly.

Lillian, Resentful of Even Implied Criticism of Daughter, Flairs at Madge

I did not have to wait long to find out what lay behind Lillian's inquiring look at me. The answer came when Marion with one arm around her mother, linked her other arm into mine.

"If you haven't seen this job of packing and pressing, Auntie Madge," she carolled, "come along now and give it the once over. It's the outstanding achievement of the century, isn't that the way to say it, if you only knew how Mary and I have been dreading this all day. We were kicking ourselves all over the lot for having been so footless as to leave it till the last minute. Bill and Hank wanted to dance tonight, but we told them we couldn't for we had so much to do. Now we can have a final fling."

But Lillian held back ever so slightly.

"Auntie Madge isn't up to very much tonight, dear," she said. "I don't believe she will particularly enjoy an inspection of a very ordinary job."

I had been right. Lillian had been resentful of my comment to Mary that I would not have taken a hand in the pressing and packing and mending of the girls' wardrobes for their trip the next day. She sensed my disapproval of her indulgence of Marion, and I remembered Dicky's frequently repeated comment: "Old Lil isn't usually touchy, but where Marion is concerned, she has her fangs out every minute."

But I knew a never-failing treatment when Lillian is cross. If she smiles she is lost—to temper. So I twisted around to face her, and demanded imperiously:

"Who's misnowing now? If you have anything to say to me, Woman, let's fight it out in the privacy of our chamber, and spare the feelings of this innocent child."

It was the most arrant nonsense, but it served its purpose, and as Lillian grinned reluctantly, I knew that she would bring an unprejudiced mind and an unresentful heart to the explanation I would have to give her later.

Marion looked oddly at us, but did not speak, and I found myself wondering whether her silence was because of her natural and usual exquisite courtesy or whether she comprehended my feeling about the packing, and wished to delay as long as possible any remarks of mine to her mother concerning it. I was thankful, indeed, that Mary saved me from further words by skipping back with Katherine, and we all went into the room jointly occupied by the girls, where bags and suitcases stood open with only the last things to be done.

There are four gowns which are still hanging in your closets," Katherine said. "They're the most crushable ones, and you can put them in the first thing in the morning. But be careful."

"Don't worry. I shall be on the job," Lillian said, sending an oddly defiant little glance at me. "I've seen the slate in which dresses come home from school far too often to risk any unsupervised youthful packing of those frocks."

"You can't hurt our feelings that way," Mary grinned mischievously at us. "We're coyly but firmly impervious to criticism, as long as we don't have to work, eh, Marion?"

There was that in her eyes which made me wonder if she were taking a sly fling at Marion's disinclination to attend to her room or her clothing unless frequently reminded of her duties. For while Mary has to fight inherent weaknesses of character which never will trouble Marion, personal indolence is not one of them, and I knew that any apparent neglect of her wardrobe—though I was sure there had been far less work upon her things than upon Marion's—was justified by the lack of time which is hers owing to the schedule of studies imposed by the Veritzen regime.

There was no answering laugh in Marion's eyes. Instead they held genuine contrition and distress as she looked toward her mother.

"I'm an awful beast Mummy," she said, "going away and letting you do everything. Don't you dare touch another thing!"

"It won't be hard for her to obey that injunction, old dear," Mary cribed, "seeing that almost every last handkerchief is in."

I was near enough to her to give her a surreptitious pinch of warning. For I had seen the quick resentment in Lillian's eyes at even this mild stricture upon her darling's foibles and knew that there must be no further pleasantries at Marion's expense.

Inconsistently enough I found myself sharing Lillian's resentment, though in slighter degree. There is something so adorably winning in Marion's contrition and her sincerity is so patent that it would take a harder heart than mine to realize in her presence that her sorrow for her shortcomings does not last long enough to insure her permanent reform.

After all I reflected, as Katherine came to the rescue with some question which demanded an answer from Lillian, we should be thankful that we had no more serious fault to watch than schoolgirlish indolence. When I considered the things which some mothers had to face, I could understand Lillian's continual indulgence of the child who never had been compelled to face the prosaic side of life.

There was a vague feeling of tension in the little group around the packed suitcases, and I was glad indeed when the sound of the telephone released it. Katherine moved toward the door to answer it upon the upstairs phone, since the arrival of my baby daughter, she has saved me even so slight a duty as this but before she reached it we heard Dicky's voice in the hall below. And suddenly the phobia of bad news which so often grips me at the sound of a telephone, took me by the throat, engendered no doubt by the terrifying experiences of the morning. And the name which sprang fearfully to my mind was that of Hugh Grantland.

Correct Manners

By Mrs. Cornelius Beekman

Formal Attire

Dear Mrs. Beekman:

I always read your valuable articles in the paper. If I am not too busy I save my paper for the following day for your answers on good manners are very interesting and I do not like to miss any of them.

What is the most appropriate attire for a man at an evening wedding, a full dress suit or a tuxedo?

MRS. J. C.

Thank you for your kindness in telling me this.

If the wedding is formal the correct attire for a man is full dress. The Tuxedo suit is an informal evening suit. If the bride is dressed formally, and the groom and attendants formally, then, to be appropriately dressed, the gentlemen guests also dress formally. And the great point of this is that in this way a gentleman pays his respects and compliments to the formality of the occasion and to what the bride and groom wish it to be.

A Widow's Christmas Cards

Dear Mrs. Beekman:

I am a widow. When I have my Christmas cards engraved, what form of name should I use?

MRS. G. P.

You use the very same form of formal name that you used when your husband was living. That is,

Mrs. Henry Allen Graham
Sends greetings for A Merry Christmas
and
A Happy New Year.

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Eyestrain Is Often the Cause of Inefficiencies

Periodical general examinations are particularly valuable to persons past 50. Periodical eye examinations are essential in every age group.

Many a child is counted stupid in school because he has unrecognized eye trouble and cannot study as the normal child does. Failure to progress in school or college is frequently the result of uncorrected eyestrain. Listlessness, alleged laziness, unwillingness to work at tasks requiring good eyesight, and other important social maladjustments, are all too many times the direct effect of poor eyes.

Dr. Copeland

It is amazing what relief comes with the correction of eyestrain. As if by magic, all the discomforts which have ruined what would otherwise be a happy life will disappear with the adjustment of proper glasses.

There will always be a dispute, I suppose about who ended the war. We hear this nation and that nation, this group and that group, claiming the honor and glory of deciding that conflict.

Applying this thought to the ending of onslaughts on the health and happiness of the human family, I think great credit should be given all those engaged in the correction of eye defects. The practical application of the science of optics has promoted as much the welfare of the human family as any other factor of which I have knowledge.

If your eyes distress you, or if you have uncomfortable symptoms which have baffled all efforts to remove them, I beg of you to have your eyes tested. Find out whether or not you have perfect vision. Find out if the eyesight with which you flatter yourself is good at the expense of your body. The small sum involved in an examination of the eyes and the correction of their defects, if they exist, will repay you a thousandfold in increased efficiency and multiplied happiness.

Answers to Health Queries

M. M. S. Q.—What should a girl 17, 5 feet 7 inches tall weigh?

A.—She should weigh about 133 pounds. This is about the average weight for one of this age and height as determined by examination of a large number of persons.

* * *

MISS F. B. Q.—My sister's baby of 3 has eczema, which has persisted since he was a year old. It seems to be spreading—he has been treated without benefit. What would you suggest?

A. It is possible that the child's diet is at fault. The elimination is also a factor in such cases.

* * *

C. B. Q.—I am over 6 feet tall and still growing — what would you advise in my case?

A.—This may be due to some glandular disturbance — see a doctor for examination and definite advice.

Informatory Doubles

An informatory double is a species of demand declaration obliging the doubler's partner to bid unless he can defeat it. A doubled contract for greater gain than can result from any responsive bid. Some players consider a double of any opening bid informatory or negative as called by some other players only double for penalties. Experience leads me to believe that the following requirements for informatory doubles are more sound than any others in use:

To be informatory, a double must meet each of the following requirements:

3. The bid doubled must not exceed: 1-No Trump, 2-Spades or 3-Hearts, 4-diamonds or 4-Clubs.

The Beauty Box

By HELEN FOLLETT

Hair ornaments have become so attractive that they reach out and filch your cash-coin-spending-change. There are the combs for holding ringlets back of the ears, barrettes of white metal clips made of shell shops that look like lilies of the valley. Patrice wearing natural flowers in her hair when she goes to the elegant party, but they're not so good. Too fussy and too soon wilted.

Pretty hands are the reward of attention and proper care, using a bland soap, protecting against dirt, putting the shell-like shimmer on pink nail sheaths. A good hand lotion should be used all the year round. One can be made by soaking 60 grains of gum tragacanth in 14 ounces of rose-water for two days, straining, adding one ounce each of glycerin and rubbing alcohol, a few drops of the favorite perfume.

Milliners and hairdressers have got together again. Hats are hats and coiffures are coiffures, real ones. All is gayety and gladness. You can be brimmed or unbrimmed, wear something that is as demure as an old-time bonnet, or become sophisticated and chic under the eaves of a chapeau that flies up on one side and ducks down on the other. Undulations or beau catchers rippled over the noble brow, sometimes both. There is such a variety of hairdress designs being offered that there's no excuse for a feminine head looking wrong. Few do. The campaign for good looks and smartness moves on at double pace.

RIGID SURVEY OF ESTIMATES INDICATED

Lack of Payroll Slash to Get Consideration; Two Agencies File Protests

With representatives of two organizations demanding a tax cut present, members of Council today began consideration of the 1932 budget transmitted yesterday by Mayor Charles H. Kline.

J. C. Slippy was present in behalf of the Pittsburgh Real Estate Board which urges that a five-day week be instituted in the city government to reduce expenses. L. H. Brandl, represented the Pittsburgh Building Owners and Managers Association which seeks a five-mill slash in the 1932 levy.

SLASH IN POSTAGE

After long argument, Council slashed $10,000 from a total of $20,000 for postage in the various departments and ordered all first-class mail cleared through the controller's office.

A cut of $7,000 was made in the appropriations for toys, games and athletic supplies in the Bureau of Recreation.

Councilman W. Y. English asked for light on the number of direct telephone lines in the city offices aside from those handled by the city private exchange. He said he thought money could be saved by elimination of the direct lines.

English wanted to know whether an item for relief to the blind which had been eliminated from the Mayor's estimates was to be found elsewhere in the budget. He was informed that it was.

RIGID SURVEY

H. S. Breitenstein, former accountant of the City Controller's office, who aided in preparing the Mayor's figures, was present to answer questions.

The mayor yesterday in his letter accompanying the budget which shows an apparent decrease of $1,031,337 from this year's appropriations, said he was not sure slashing the payroll and elimination of jobs would be justified in view of economic conditions.

In spite of the estimate slash, Mayor Kline pointed out to Council that a tax levy of 25 mills on land and 12½ mills on buildings would be necessary. This is a decrease of only one-half mill.

The apparent decrease must also be cut down $223,500 in emergency appropriations not shown in the set-up. Also the setting of the rate at 25 mills on land takes no account of a possible deficit at the end of this year, which city accountants now admit might amount to $200,000.

Store Owner Held In Arson Charge

Accused of conspiracy to commit arson in connection with a fire which broke out in his store at 12:40 a. m., November 16, J. D. Blatt, 38, proprietor of a clothing store at 6341 Frankstown avenue, was held for a later hearing by Magistrate Leo Rothenberg in Central Police Court today.

Curtis Knows How Not to Get To White House

—By ARTHUR 'BUGS' BAER—

Charley Curtis had the choice of being a candidate for Senator from Kansas or running again for Vice President.

He should have picked Senator from Kansas. He would be invited to the White House oftener.

We read Theodore Dreiser's statement and we think Sinclair Lewis is silly if he doesn't challenge him to a return fight.

California claims that Jimmy Walker got the flu when he opened a trunk with some New York air still in it.

The Seabury investigation is like a cat in a bird store. It's pawing everything and choking on a few tail feathers.

Senator Borah knows as much about the Polish corridor as Stimson does about stopping the Japanese. Another scoreless tie.

What happened to that Wall Street campaign against the beers? Nothing. They've moved the stock exchange into a hollow tree.

MRS. LUCILLE SCOTT STRITE

W. Va. Governor Gives Appointment to Business Woman

BERKELEY SPRINGS, W. Va., Dec. 1.—Mrs. Lucille S. Strite, a young business woman of Berkeley Springs, has been named by Gov. William G. Conley to the seat in the West Virginia House of Delegates from Morgan County, made vacant by the death of her father, James C. Scott. He was elected in 1930 for a two-year term.

Mrs. Strite is the only woman member of the House. She is a graduate of the Berkeley Springs High School and of Shepherd College, Shepherdstown, W. Va. She was selected from three names sent to the Governor by the Democratic County Committee.

STORE'S SALES TO AID RELIEF

Joseph Horne Company announced today that it would give 10 per cent. of its store's total sales for tomorrow to the Welfare Fund. This is in addition to the earlier contributions of the company and its employes.

The directors decided to announce the proposed contribution in advance so that the public might swell the sum by shopping tomorrow.

A. H. Burchfield, president of the company, said:

"The Welfare-Emergency Fund this year presents a challenge to Pittsburgh that cannot be ignored. Our businessmen cannot allow this campaign to fail without exhausting every means possible. It is bad business for a city to fall short of its full duty at a time like this. Trade will respond with greater confidence and alacrity if it knows that the community's welfare responsibilities have been adequately met."

DEATH CLAIMS DR. WILBUR, M. P. LEADER

Bellevue Clergyman, 78, Served as Educator and Editor in Active Career

Dr. Charles E. Wilbur, 78, one of the most widely-known Methodist Protestant ministers of the district, died early today in his home, 574 Teece avenue, Bellevue. For 25 years he had been editor of Sunday school literature of his church.

Dr. Wilbur was born on Long Island, October 8, 1853, and was educated at Adrian College and Yale and Temple Universities. He had held pastorates in Washington County, Fairmont, W. Va., and Sharpsburg. He was head of the English department of Adrian from 1883 to 1892, and in 1898 became editor of Sunday school literature with headquarters in Pittsburgh. He retired in 1924.

He was a member of the World Sunday School Association, the International Sunday School Lesson Commission, the Heinz World Tour Party of 1913, the Sunday School Commission of the American Relief to the Near East in 1918 and 1919, a director of the Pittsburgh Milk and Ice Association and a member of the Delta Tau Delta and Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternities.

Besides his widow he leaves a daughter, Mrs. John Jewell, of Washington, Pa. Funeral services will be held in the Bellevue Methodist Protestant Church at 4 p. m. tomorrow. Interment will be in Glassboro, N. J.

SUSPECT HELD IN COW THEFT

Magistrate Leo Rothenberg today ordered Dan Walcott, Negro, of Glenwood, held for investigation in connection with the theft of a cow and chickens from residents of New Homestead, near Hays.

City Detective Fred Gray testified he found a cow's hide and horns in a wooded section near Hays, and later he caught Walcott with a bag of chickens. The cow had been owned by Mrs. John Johnston, of 894 Sheffler street.

Walcott, questioned by the magistrate, admitted taking the cow. He said he and two friends, after milking it, killed it and divided the meat. Police are seeking Walcott's companions.

WELFARE AIDES PRESS FUND APPEALS

Drive Failure Here, Seen As Periling Job Plans; $2,000,000 to Be Raised

A List of Welfare Fund Contributors Appears on Page 10.

To prevent the possibility of many families being left in distress through failure of the Welfare Fund to provide aid, the joint campaign of the fund and the Allegheny County Emergency Association will be extended for another week while the volunteer workers seek to reach their goal of $5,981,000. With $421,839 turned in at yesterday's report meeting, the fund in still nearly $2,000,000 short of the needed amount.

To date, the actual amount raised is $4,068,142.06. Funds are already being appropriated to put men and women to work, through the Allegheny County Emergency Association, and if the full $3,000,000 share due the association is not raised, this phase of the relief program must be curtailed.

JOB PLANS PERILED

The plans to put 15,000 men and women to work may have to be "shaved" in accordance with the proportion of the fund allotted to this purpose.

Similar reductions will be faced by the 77 units in the Welfare Fund, each of which performs a valuable service. In face of retarding the work of the various units and the association, it was decided to extend the campaign for another week. Two more report luncheons will be held, one Thursday and one Monday, General Chairman Joseph Dilworth announced.

Dilworth said:

"There is no other course. We can't quit at this point. But whatever the outcome, we shall be forced to disband our volunteer organization after Monday's meeting."

HOPE FOR SUCCESS

A. K. Oliver, president of the Welfare Fund, said:

"The money is here, and it should be possible to get $5,981,000 for such a program as we are undertaking. Allegheny County has wealth, and enough of her workers are employed to make failure a serious reflection on our earnestness and sincerity. This coming week has to play an important part in turning the tide."

Grandmother Held As Robbers' Aide

CHICAGO, Dec. 1.—(AP.)—Mrs. Anna Baranski, 67-year-old "grandmother bandit," was convicted by a jury in Criminal Court on a charge of robbery, carrying a mandatory sentence of one to 20 years' imprisonment. Judge Rudolph Desort delayed sentence.

Mrs. Baranski was charged with complicity with her son, later killed in a robbery, and Harold Marcell, now under arrest. She was said to have made small purchases in stores they planned to rob, watching where the merchant kept his currency.

WILLIAM KUHN, CATERER, DIES

William Rittenhouse Kuhn, 77, for more than half a century identified with the catering business in the East Liberty district, died today at his home, 516 Roslyn place. He was probably best known as proprietor of the Rittenhouse and at one time conducted the Kenmawr Hotel.

He was a member of various Masonic organizations and of Christ Methodist Episcopal Church. He leaves his widow, Annye Kincaid Kuhn, and four children, Olin R. Kuhn, William R. Kuhn, Mrs. Duncan Dayton and Miss Virginia Kuhn. Funeral services will be held in Christ Church chapel at 2 p. m. Thursday.

Remove Machinery in Effort to Get False Totals

A group of women, composed mostly of members of the League of Women Voters, today conducted their own test of vote machines purchased for the county. Various methods were tried by the women to have the machines record false figures. Mrs. R. Templeton Smith and Mrs. J. O. Miller headed the delegation of 15 women.

At the conclusion of a three-hour test, during which some of the mechanism was removed from the machines in order to alter the result, the women said they would withhold comment until after an examination in Harrisburg tomorrow, by Richard J. Beamish, secretary of the commonwealth.

Said Mrs. Smith:

"We are not here in a spirit of destructive criticism. We want to be sure the county gets machines that will function properly."

Present at the test were R. S. Gladstone, representing the Pool Engineering and Machine Company from whom the county purchased 1,100 vote machines; George J. Schad, chairman of the Board for the Assessment and Revision of Taxes, a representative of the County Controller and several other men interested in voting machines.

Lindy Rests After Long Flight in Fog

Lindbergh landed his plane at Mitchel Field, N. Y., last night, three days after he started from Florida, following his flight over the Pan-American Airways route to Cristobal, Canal Zone, on the maiden voyage of the passenger boat, American Clipper.

CHARGES LOOM AGAINST CITY ATTACHES

Numerous Criminal Actions Forecast as Report on Audit of Treasury Nears

Some bankers, as well as persons identified with the city administration, it is expected, are to be prosecuted as a result of the audit into the office of deposed City Treasurer Roy D. Schooley, it was learned today. The city officers and employes are to be accused of malfeasance and misfeasance in office.

District Attorney Andrew T. Park said today that a grand jury investigation would start soon. He would not say when, but denied a report that it would be as early as Monday.

Other than asserting there will be plenty of prosecutions, no one identified with the probe would discuss the subject. The audit is being made under the direction of Controller James P. Kerr, who employed Price, Waterhouse & Co. to do the work.

The indications are the report of the audit will be in the hands of Controller Kerr this week. A copy will be given the District Attorney. The auditors are now making a check-up of the account of the Board of Education, of which Schooley also was treasurer.

The checkup has been in progress for over two months and is said to be the first real audit of the office for several years.

The reports of the auditors who investigated the office of Bertram L. Succop, deposed Director of Supplies, resulting in his indictment, and that of Mayor Charles H. Kline, were presented to the grand jury, which later made a presentment.

Postal Messenger Injured by Auto

'Best Movie Director' Undergoes Operation

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 1.—(AP.)—Norman Taurog, named the best motion picture director of 1931 by the Academy of Motion Arts and Sciences because of his work in the film "Skippy," was operated upon yesterday for appendicitis. His physician, Dr. Charles Ross, regarded the case as not dangerous.

WILL ROGERS SAYS

ABOARD SS. EMPRESS OF RUSSIA, Dec. 1.

To the Editor, Sun-Telegraph:

Sunday we lost a whole day so the argument has come up: What day is it back home? We not only don't know what hour it is back there, but we don't know what day it is and some of us are even doubtful about the week and Gibbons don't know what year it is. Sunday we attended services on the boat but they said it was only Saturday at home. Everybody is in civil war arguing over it so please wire what time it is at home. Everything cockeyed to us anyhow, for here we are travelling straight west to get to the Far East. Japan, the land of the rising sun, is where it sets.

Yours, WILL.

High School Pupils Here Meet Byrd 'Husky'

Students at Langley and Westinghouse high schools were to be introduced today to "Tom Pratt," Labrador "huskie" dog born in Little America on the Byrd expedition. He is in Pittsburgh with his master, Charles E. Lofgren, personnel officer of the Byrd Antarctic expedition, who is lecturing in city high schools.

"Tom Pratt" is 2½ years old and weighs 82 pounds. In eight weeks he has made personal appearances at 300 high schools throughout the Middle West and has become known to a quarter of a million school children, according to Arthur H. Lofgren, who accompanies his brother.

The dog is transported from city to city in a specially fitted crate on the back of an automobile.

Lofgren said:

"He does not seem to suffer unduly in warm weather. We keep him in the cellar during the heat of a day. For exercise he plays football with neighborhood boys, making 100-yard circular runs. No one can catch him. He likes raw meat, bones, salmon, milk and ice cream. When a small dog barks at him, he walks disdainfully away."

Charles Lofgren tells school pupils that at the pole the nights are four months long, that whales have halitosis, that Charlie Chaplin was the most popular actor in the weekly expedition movies, that the weather was so cold one could hear one's own breath freeze, and that kerosene froze in the cans at 45 below zero.

Fugitive for 18 Years, Freed in Auto Death

Little did Meredith B. Reid think that the porter on the Great Northern Railroad train carrying him to the Canadian Rockies a few years ago was, as the melodramatists have it—a fugitive wanted for murder in Pittsburgh.

But so it was. Reid, the assistant District Attorney, found that out yesterday in Criminal Court. In fact, he prosecuted the man, Fred Roberts, Negro.

For 18 years Roberts managed to evade Pittsburgh, after he had been indicted for murder in an auto accident in which a woman was killed.

Arrested recently in Chicago on a tip given by a woman, Roberts was tried yesterday and acquitted, there being no witnesses remaining against him. The charge was reduced to involuntary manslaughter.

BRITISH GUEST DEPLORES U. S. GAMBLING

Dabbling in Stocks by All Classes Has Put Wealth in Hands of Few, He Says

Sir Arthur Duckham, one of Great Britain's leading industrial leaders, is in Pittsburgh with criticism and praise for the United States.

He criticized:

"I am appalled at your fever-ish spirit of gambling. From the lift boy to the high society leader you hear them discussing the price of this or that stock. It's appalling. They can't win. That's why most of the wealth of your country is in the hands of a few.

He praised the American business spirit and [illegible] depression, saying that commodity prices are falling and the purchasing power of the people [illegible].

A guest of the Kopper Company, which is [illegible] land as head of the Mond-Duckham Company, Sir Arthur said he planned to spend a sojourn in the state studying the economic situation.

Sir Arthur [illegible] that England will never adopt prohibition. He praised Europe's dole system of unemployment relief.

"It has cost us a dear price and it has been abused, but it has prevented our vast army of unemployed from going hungry."

Sir Arthur was director of general munitions production during the war and chairman of the British committee on mineral resources. He was recently elected president of the Federation of British Industries.

How One Woman Lost 47 lbs of Fat

In 3 Months and Feels Years Younger

"I have been taking Kruschen Salts for nearly 3 months. I have continued taking one teaspoonful in warm water every morning. I then weighed 217 pounds, was always bothered with pains in my back and lower part of abdomen and sides.

Now I am glad to say I am a well woman, feel much stronger, years younger and my weight is 170 pounds. I do not only feel better, but I look better, so all my friends say.

A bottle of Kruschen Salts that lasts 4 weeks costs but 85 cents at any drug store the world over. Take one half teaspoon in a glass of hot water every morning before breakfast.

Attention to diet will help—cut out pastry and fatty meats—go light on potatoes, butter, cream and sugar—the kruschen way is the safe way to lose fat. Try one bottle and if not perfectly satisfied your money back.

21 ADMIT GUILT IN RUM LAW VIOLATIONS

Man, Woman Paroled Under Narcotic Act; Another Group Fights for Freedom

Twenty men and a woman pleaded guilty of violations of the prohibition laws in Federal Court yesterday.

A Johnstown man pleaded guilty of passing spurious United States notes, two pleaded violating the narcotic act and others began to fight by trial for freedom from charges of other violations of United States statutes.

The trial of Anthony Scardino, of Johnstown, continued today, as Assistant United States Attorney Zeno Fritz attempted to prove that Scardino took part in the passing of 50 notes of $5 denomination in Johnstown and nearby towns of Cambria County. John Castonola, also of Johnstown and indicted in the same case, pleaded guilty yesterday and is awaiting sentence.

FINED, SENTENCED

Those who pleaded guilty of violations of the liquor laws were Frank Prus, Ambridge, fined $50; Louis Gizoni, Morgan, fined $50; Jack B. Mosti, Morgan, fined $50; Smith Kerr, Monongahela, fined $50; Peter Schlepis and John Shovel, fined $100 each; Sidney T. Lewis, Rennersdale, fined $150; John Marcus, Carnegie, fined $200; Secondo Gualleroni, Jeannette, fined $100; Clarence Williams, Pittsburgh, fined $100; Nelson McPherson, Castle Shannon, fined $100; Victor Bezzachero, Jeannette, sentenced to three months in the Allegheny County Jail; Mrs. Mary Castro, fined $100, and Philip Gallo, fined $10, both from Dormont.

PAROLES GRANTED

The following were paroled: Tony Furentino, Sharpsburg, two years; Frank Berardilli, Pittsburgh, one year; Gregor B. Stein, Pittsburgh, 18 months; Patsy Muolo, Swissvale, two years; Art Davis, Pittsburgh, 18 months, and Michael Cardill, Penn Township, paroled for 18 months.

Daniel Martorella, of Pittsburgh was paroled for two years after pleading guilty of selling dope and Anna Sable, of Pittsburgh, was paroled for the same period after she pleaded guilty of altering prescriptions for morphine.

Trunk Murder Trial Postponed to Jan. 19

PHOENIX, Ariz., Dec. 1.—(AP)—At the request of defense counsel, the trial of Winnie Ruth Judd, admitted slayer of Mrs. Agnes Le Roi and Miss Hedvig Samuelson, has been postponed from December 15 to January 19.

Herman Lewkowitz, one of her attorneys, told the court the defense is taking depositions in Ohio and Indiana. It was reported they will form the basis of an insanity plea in an effort to save Mrs. Judd from the gallows.

Ex-Trooper Freed After Beating Man

WASHINGTON, Pa., Dec. 1.—(AP)—Severin Orben, Jr., of McDonald, former member of Troop A, state police, admitted in court yesterday that he took Frank Jacobs, Mt. Pleasant Township farmer, to a secluded spot near Primrose and beat him with his fists after Jacobs had fired a shotgun at him during the berry-picking season. Judge Cummins placed Orben on probation for six months.

BREAKS UP A COLD IN A JIFFY

Feel Like a New Person Almost Before You Know It

If you want quick relief from a cold, go back to first principles and use something you know does the business—don't start "trying" a lot of fancy ideas or remedies. Even a "little" cold is too dangerous to take chances on.

Get Hill's Cascara Quinine. A scientific formula made to do ONE THING WELL: to knock a cold in a jiffy, not to cure a hundred different things.

Take two tablets now. Then follow directions on box. Drink lots of water, too—that's all. Soon those mean, aching pains in head and body begin to go; the cold breaks up; poisons leave your system. Almost before you know it, you feel like a new person.

If it doesn't do that, your money back. Get a box now. You'll be surprised at the speed with which it works. Costs only a few cents.

Safety Chief

THOMAS FITZGERALD

RAIL EXECUTIVE SAFETY HEAD

Thomas Fitzgerald, vice president of the Pittsburgh Railways Company, was elected president of the Western Pennsylvania Safety Council at the annual meeting of the council yesterday in the Chamber of Commerce. This term will run through 1931-32.

Other officers elected were A. Lyle Linderman, treasurer; F. C. Schatz, secretary; C. B. Auel, chairman of the budgets; A. P. Hurkenstein, vice president of industrial safety; Francis Feehan, vice president in charge of mines; Thomas Campbell, vice president of public safety; A. T. Benson, vice president of home safety; Grafton Duvall, vice president of publicity; R. M. Sherrard, vice president of school safety; Frank Wilbur Main, auditor, and G. E. Clarkson, manager.

Westinghouse Man To Talk on Ecuador

An illustrated lecture on Ecuador will be given tonight by S. Q. Hayes, engineer of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company, at the monthly meeting of the University of Pittsburgh branch, American Institute of Electrical Engineers, at the university. Hayes serves as vice consul to Pittsburgh for Ecuador, the appointment having been received shortly after his return from that country.

'HIDDEN RICHES' OF BASSETT SOUGHT

Estate and Creditors Hunt Assets of Evangelist; Ruling on Will Awaited

Search is being made for the "hidden millions" of Ira S. Bassett, business man evangelist, by both his estate and creditors.

The whereabouts of Bassett's resources is interesting Attorney Howard D. Montgomery, who represented Bassett for a number of years prior to the evangelist's death.

In the meantime, parties concerned are awaiting the decision of W. F. Burger, of the Register of Wills office, as to whether he will admit to probate the Bassett will, naming Claude Sharpe, Jr., as executor. Regardless of the disposition of the will, further extensive litigation is indicated.

EMPHASIS ON LETTER

Considerable emphasis is being placed on the testimony of Horace Clark, of Bridgeport, O., a friend of Bassett, who told Burger that Bassett informed him where a letter was that revoked the will making Sharp executor. This letter was offered in evidence. Attorney Montgomery declares the letter, under the law, is most important.

Montgomery says that if the supposed hidden wealth is found, creditors owed $1,500,000 will be paid in full. The claims must be proved in Orphans Court. Discussing the bankruptcy proceedings instituted against Bassett in 1918, Montgomery said:

"Bassett has never been discharged from bankruptcy, because the time limit in the act for bankruptcy discharge expired while Bassett was ill. As a result he could not transact business in his own name.

COMPROMISE REACHED

"The bankruptcy record shows he made a compromise with his creditors in the bankruptcy proceedings, which was approved by the creditors, the referee and the court.

"He paid his creditors in round figures about $32,000. One creditor who has wanted a settlement eight times the original claim of $6,000, has been holding out. This is practically the only claim against the 1918 estate.

"At that time all of his creditors received 22½ per cent on a compromise agreement. Since that time Bassett had settled with them personally by taking an assignment of the claim or right, title and interest thereto. One claimant was willing to make an assignment but on a basis beyond all reason."

Scores Flee Quake In Italian Town

CERIGNOLA, Italy, Dec. 1.—(INS.)—The population of this city was thrown into panic by a violent earthquake. Scores awakened from their sleep fled into the open fields.

3 BANDITS HALT FLIGHT TO ROB DRUG STORE

Pursued by Police After Holding Up Women, They Loot Place and Escape

A trio of young bandits who held up two elderly women in their North Side home, and who paused to rob a drug store in the heat of police pursuit, while an attendant was mixing drinks for them, were widely sought today.

SEIZED BY TRIO

Police were told how Mrs. Beilstein and Mrs. John Bauer, of 249 Seabright street, a visitor, answering a summons to their door, were seized by two of the bandits while the third ransacked the house.

Struggling free of the hand clapped over her mouth, Mrs. Beilstein ran out the door screaming. Police arrived in time to catch a glimpse of the bandit car, although they lost it in traffic.

A few minutes after police reported they lost the bandits, further activity of the trio was learned when the drug store of F. X. Munsch, 3613 California avenue, was held up and robbed.

AWE CLERKS

Two of the robbers drew revolvers on F. X. Munsch, Jr., who was behind the soda fountain, and a drug clerk, Paul Burkhart, 23, of 4021 Oswald street. The clerks, along with an unidentified newsboy, who had entered the store to sell papers, were herded into the street, as the thieves emptied the cash drawer of $47.

They also dipped into a donation box and removed $7 that had been charity to the poor.

The apartment of Art Berlett and Albie Cox, Pittsburgh Hockey Club players, was looted by thieves when the two were absent last night, and $90 was stolen from the purses of their wives, according to a police report.

Gas Price Increase Adds $18,000 Day

Approximately $18,000 daily will be added to the burden of Allegheny County motorists through the increase of one cent per gallon in the price of gasoline, which became effective yesterday. According to the statistical bureau of the Pittsburgh Motor Club the county at present uses about 18,000,000 gallons of gasoline each month and the increase will cost local motorists about $540,000 monthly.

Fewer Toys, More Clothing, Army Aim

Fewer toys and more clothing and shoes will be the object of the Salvation Army in its Christmas campaign this year. Plans are now being made by officers of the Army to place the usual workers on all street corners and in public buildings for collection of money with which to bring Christmas cheer to the thousands of unfortunates in the city and county.

ONE COUNTY JOB HAS 2 BOSSES

William H. Ziefel returned to his desk as chief clerk of the County Commissioners' office today after an absence of nine months caused, he said by illness.

Employes were faced with the unique situation of having two bosses.

James E. Rowley, assistant chief clerk, was placed in charge of the office by the Commissioners last Wednesday, with the understanding that Ziefel was not to return although his pay was to continue until January 1 when the new board of commissioners is to assume office.

Both Rowley and Ziefel were in the office today. There was no apparent conflict between them.

Mt. Lebanon Board Urges Tunnel Deal

A resolution urging the Board of County Commissioners to take immediate action in acquiring the Wabash Railroad bridge tunnel as an outlet for Pittsburgh traffic was passed at a meeting of Mt. Lebanon Township commissioners last night.

The resolution pointed out that the purchase and reconstruction of the bridge and tunnel would afford labor for a large number of unemployed men.

Beechview Woman Falls Dead in Trolley

Mrs. Georgina Rudolph, 68, of 1813 Tonapah street, Beechview, fell dead last night in a Dormont street car, according to a coroner's report. At Smithfield street and Strawberry way the motorman stopped the car when he saw the woman fall over in her chair. Patrolman Michael Walsh was notified and the woman was removed to Mercy Hospital, where she was pronounced dead.

CAMELS are KEPT Fresh!

But you know too that excessive heat can destroy freshness and fragrance.

That's why there could be no truly fresh cigarette except for scientifically developed methods of applying heat.

Reynolds is proud of having discovered and perfected methods for getting the benefits of heat treatments and still avoiding ever parching or toasting.

With every assurance we tell you, Camels are truly fresh. They're made fresh—not parched or toasted—and then they're kept fresh in the Camel Humidor Pack.

If you wish to know why the swing to Camels is nation-wide and steadily growing—switch to them for just one day—then leave them, if you can.

BUS DRIVERS AND street car conductors operating between Mt. Lebanon and the city are said to be the best informed men on radio programs in the county . . . and the reason? . . . The small municipalities of Mt. Lebanon and Dormont are the most radio conscious of all townships, cities and towns in the state of Pennsylvania . . . Mt. Lebanon leads the state with 85.5 per cent of its homes radioized or 3,009 sets in 3,519 families . . . Dormont follows the trail blazer with 3,020 sets among 3,657 families . . . Only 1,157 families out of 7,176 in Dormont and Mt. Lebanon are without radio sets! . . . Bellevue is another high with 78.3 per cent of its homes radio equipped . . . 2,126 sets among 2,716 families.

Do You Know

THAT all sustaining programs used by Mexican stations must contain 90 per cent of Mexican talent? This accounts for the poor quality concerts emanating from XER, XEW and others below the Rio Grande.

THAT "Riggs and Moke"—sometimes accused of imitating "Sisters of the Skillet"—were on the air three months before the NBC act? WCAE in 1930.

THAT Pittsburgh and New York have been regarded by radio engineers as the worst adapted cities in the world for the transmission of television signals, due to the immense amount of steel structure? Berlin has been designated the best city. Business and dwelling houses there are built mostly of brick and stone, which do not absorb electric impulses.

THAT the Mills Brothers imitate 20 instruments in an orchestra with nothing but their mouths and hands? Hear them do the "Tiger Rag" with Walter Winchell on WJAS at 8:45 tonight.

THAT Frank Munn (Paul Oliver) is called "Paul" more times by NBC associates than by his right name? But that's to be settled. . . . Frank has decided to sing under his own name in the future.

THAT the Kennelly Heaviside Layer which refracts radio signals is a huge air blanket 100 miles above the earth? It billows up and down like a circus tent in a gale and thus causes either good or poor reception.

THAT the blowing of a police whistle and the click of an SOS . . . . . are barred in network programs because of complications that might result from the signals being picked up?

Studio Lights:

The Musical Variety Hour on Wednesday nights (WCAE) featuring Olive Palmer, Paul Oliver and the Revelers Quartet, is to be discontinued on December 9 . . . The feature has been on NBC since November 28, 1928. . . .

Brad Browne, organizer of the dear little Nit Wits, is to take Ray Perkins' place on the Three Bakers program (KDKA) starting this Sunday. . . .

The Sistine Cnoir, singing from Rome, is to be heard on NBC-WCAE Christmas Eve in place of the Sherlock Holmes drama which is to be added to the WCAE schedule Thursday of this week.

Seth Parker is to return to WCAE in person this Sunday.

The new schedule for the Gloom Chasers puts them on CBS-WABC Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday at 8 p. m., starting next week. . . . WJAS may have to pass up the feature because of a previously scheduled commercial. . . .

Big Bill Farren is playing Robin Hood today in Clarion County mountains . . . the Revelers Quartet at KDKA, who celebrate their second anniversary tonight, intend to hold Bill to his promise of a venison feast . . .

Max Hannum, substituting at the last minute for Coach Bob Waddell, of Tech, on WCAE last night, clicked beautifully as a radio speaker . . . well modulated voice, splendid poise and fine diction.

Vaughn de Leath, resigned NBC star, has gone WOR . . . and that means you will hear her on Columbia before long . . .

Five continents are to be linked by NBC on Saturday, December 12, in honor of Guglielmo Marconi, inventor of wireless . . . and last year's stunt of hooking up far away places, including Japan, is to be repeated on Christmas Day with Russia possibly as an added attraction . .

Jack Hollister is rendezvousing regularly these mornings with KFI—which reminds us, if you have an unusual DX log, please send it in.

Today's Tid Bit:

Tony Wakeman, exhilarated with a fresh breeze atop the William Penn Hotel, went into an esthetic dance for the rest of the boys. Tony, who would make a better guard for Pitt than Pavlowa, was a grotesque figure against the Pittsburgh skyline.

The LOUDSPEAKER

NEW YORK, Dec. 1.—(News Item) In the event of war all radio programs would be placed under scrutiny and only those conforming to rigid requirements would be allowed on the air.

Gentlemen of the Military Intelligence Division: We have a tough job ahead of us, the toughest in our lives. The enemy is receiving vital information . . . We've tracked down all official channels and every single one of them is okay. It looks for a time as if we were up against a stone wall . . . Only yesterday the chief of staff had me on the carpet. He raged for 10 minutes, said "Col. Dayton, you will find the leak in 48 hours or I'll have you transferred." I told him I'd have it for him in 24 hours.

* * *

Gentlemen, I thought I knew where the leak was. Now I'm sure . . . It's in the radio programs . . . For the past two weeks I have been listening to the radio . . . I have reason to suspect that the leaks are coming from 16 people now broadcasting on the air . . . Gentlemen, the enemy is slick, slicker than you think . . .

What do you mean, Colonel?

* * *

I mean just this, Maj. Courtney. Seven men who are now giving patriotic talks on the air are in the pay of the enemy.

* * *

For some time past Joe Sappo has been sour on America, felt it wasn't appreciating him because his fan letters had diminished almost to the vanishing point. He saw himself a faded radio star with neither a public nor money. You see, he hadn't saved a cent . . . Recently, he signed up with a perfumery company which masqueraded on the radio under a French name, Joseph Mornay et Cie, but which is being financed by the enemy. I had an operative search his apartment yesterday while he was at the radio station and we found his code book filled with all kinds of stuff. For example, he has been singing "Sweet and Lovely" a lot lately. His book showed that "Sweet and Lovely" meant "Wall street scoffs at possibility of air raid."

"I'm going to make an example of him—an example that will echo 'round the world. I'm—going—to—hang—him—from—the tallest—tower in Radio City."

Is Matrimony a Massacre? Seems to Be Problem In Coward Farce

By GEORGE SIBBEL

Roy Cooper Megrue once wrote a comedy called "Tea for Three." The new Noel Coward comedy at the Nixon Theater might be called "Coffee for Four." But it happens to be called "Private Lives." It can best be described as a contraption off key. The characters, not counting a French maid who does not count at all, there are four, whether an appropriate title would be Wed, Wo, Co and Ma, there is more assembled latent potential mayhem in this quartet than in a dozen Central American revolutions. The bridegrooms are Otto Kruger and Maurice Burton, and Helen Twelvetrees and Jane Wyatt have been married to them, respectively, for the last two years.

George Seibel

Chance throws the two couples, most unluckily, brings them to the same suite of rooms in the same hotel at the same time on their honeymoons and gives them adjoining rooms with a balcony between them. The balcony overlooks the beach and the sea. What price adultery?

What price adultery? Not much more?

A GEOMETRICAL PATTERN

The same pattern has made them ... stimate ... with double ...

In other words, Noel Coward ... illustration of a vacuum which Noel Coward abhors so much that he fills it with irrelevant conversation.

When the conversation lags he ... M. Kruger take off their hands of Miss Kennedy produce ... speak. Or they discuss travel ... exchange views on religion ... or improve the place while she sleeps.

And at 10 minutes to 10 the inspiration ceases.

AGAIN THINGS HAPPEN

Then once more things begin to happen. They had agreed to say "Solomon Isaacs" every time ... got excited which would mean ... about two minutes, but they ... coffee that they abbreviate ... to Solacs. Even that ... Armageddon and ... deserted partners burst ... Then the place looks like ... in on the morning after ...

... the closing act everybody ... with everybody and in ... they all down to an armed ... around the coffee cups. But ... coffee boils over and ... closes just like the first ...

Perhaps the foursome is now ... it out at The Hague or ... There was still lots of ... left in them when the cur- ... went down. There were still ... things to fight about. The ... theory had not been ... heredity and environ- ... would make a good casus ... Both be... then there is the Polish cor- ...

The marvel of it all is that Noel Coward has been able to take one simple little joke, husband and wife quarreling and has been able to make a whole play out of it without boring the noncombatant audience. His characters are as much alike that only the rare comedy spirit of Madge Kennedy and Otto Kruger ably abetted by Helen Gilliam and Hugh Hunt- ... Madge Kennedy ... keeps the thing galvanized into life.

It's really a quadratic equation ... maybe it should be called a bi- ... theorem which the clever ... Noel Coward plays like a game of ... this act as an exercise.

Helen Twelvetrees to Play Opposite Barrymore In New Picture

By HARRISON CARROLL

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 1.

After looking the situation over, David Selznick has picked Helen Twelvetrees to play opposite John Barrymore in the R-K-O picture, "States Attorney."

This, I think, will be news even to Helen, who is in New York introducing Husband Frank Woody to her parents.

Helen Twelvetrees

Fortunately, the assignment will not interfere with Helen's plans to remain East over Christmas. Barrymore still has to finish "Arsene Lupin" for M-G-M before he will be able to move to Radio. January 1 is the tentative starting date of "States Attorney."

IN THE NEWS

When Gary Cooper comes home in April, Dolores Del Rio will play opposite him in her long-delayed picture for Paramount.

As hitherto announced, "The Broken Wing" will be the film Grover Jones and William Slavens McNutt are preparing an adaptation from the stage play, and John Cromwell will direct.

Dolores, you recall, signed to make a Paramount film way back at the time they were considering "The Rose of the Rancho."

MORE GOSSIP

Harry Bannister set his plane down too hard this week and had a minor crack-up. He and Ann Harding take off today for Florida, but with an air mail pilot at the controls. Ann, by the way, is one of the few members of the "Prestige" company to make this location trip. Originally, Tay Garnett had planned to take most of the cast. Hollywood is amused over Lionel Barrymore's predicament when they summoned him to attend the recent Academy dinner. Lionel, who hates evening clothes, had no full dress suit. In the end, he had to borrow one from brother John. He was wearing it when he received the year's award for acting . . . The film people have their servant troubles. Recently, a well-known male star had to discharge a maid ... her washing on the upstairs front porch of his home . . . Abel Green, who had a habit of hanging out of Variety, is ill in Hollywood.

Hours of gargling wasted while bad breath lingers on

Don't waste dollars on antiseptics that can't kill germs unless used full strength. Even when diluted with two parts of water, Pepsodent Antiseptic kills germs in 10 seconds. Thus—goes 3 times as far as other antiseptics. Thus $1 worth does the work of $3 spent for ordinary kinds.

WHY does this new discovery give assurance? Why do old-time antiseptics bring uncertainty? Because the new antiseptic can kill germs when diluted—the old ones can't. For years 3 out of 4 have been fooling themselves, but now they are learning the truth. Within ten months millions have turned from ineffective solutions to Pepsodent Antiseptic. It's SAFE. It's safe! It goes 3 times as far.

SAFE yet powerful

Here is the startling news in this new discovery. You can mix Pepsodent Antiseptic with 1 or 2 parts of water, to suit your taste, and it still kills germs in less than 10 seconds. That's where most other leading mouth antiseptics fail. Yet in spite of all its power, Pepsodent Antiseptic is utterly safe when used full strength! What a weapon it is in fighting bad breath!

New security against bad breath (Halitosis)

Pepsodent Antiseptic checks bad breath due to unhygienic mouth conditions 1 to 2 hours longer! Immediately after use, 95% of germs on mouth surfaces are destroyed. Two hours later the number of germs is still reduced by 80%.

That is far longer acting than other leading mouth antiseptics. And remember—when you use Pepsodent Antiseptic to check bad breath, you are doing double duty by also fighting colds.

$3 worth for $1—regardless of size

To kill germs—most mouth antiseptics must be used full strength. So to mix them with water is a waste of money. Contrariwise, Pepsodent Antiseptic can be mixed with twice its own volume of water. Thus Pepsodent Antiseptic goes 3 times as far—saves you $2 for every $1 you spend. Pepsodent Antiseptic comes in 3 sizes: 3 ounces for 25 cents—7 ounces for 50 cents—16 ounces for $1. The larger the size, the more for your money.

Checking bad breath and combating colds are only two uses for this remarkable antiseptic. There are scores of other uses. Some are listed on this page.

Learn to rely on Pepsodent Antiseptic whenever a safe, effective germ-killing agent is required. Keep it in the home. Take it with you when you travel.

Again we say: Quit being good to germs. They've laughed at you long enough. Play safe. Buy an antiseptic that really kills germs when diluted. Remember: You can fool yourself but you can't fool bad breath.

SORE THROAT COLDS

Pepsodent Antiseptic does double duty when fighting bad breath. For at the same time it combats colds and throat irritations. Remember, P. A. is 3 to 11 times more powerful in killing germs than other leading mouth antiseptics . . . and it kills germs when diluted.

New Biologicals

REJUVENATES THE SKIN

The science of dermatology has made progress. Now you can have a creme that contains the essential biologicals for real rejuvenation of the skin texture. Not merely another tissue creme, of which there are many. But a biological creme that really nourishes the skin, thereby reducing lines, wrinkles and enlarged pores. In addition, you receive with it the first real pore evacuator developed. It is the suction cup which opens the way for the skin to absorb the essential oil right into the pores. Marvelous for removing blackheads, too. And the natural ruddy glow it puts into your cheeks is amazing. 2-ounce jar, $2.50. Sold and guaranteed by Kaufmann's Dept. Store, Gimbel Bros., and all Mayflower Drug Stores, Pittsburgh.

King Supplies Music for Cinema

By MILDRED FILLMORE

Not every picture drama can boast of having a royal composer to furnish its score, but that is the case with "Das Floeten-Konzert von Sans-Souci" (The Flute Concert at Sans-Souci), which is being shown at the Avenue Cinema this week.

The royal composer is Frederick the Great, who is also the hero of this German film romance. In the closing scenes the Prussian troops march off to the Seven Year War to the stirring strains of the "Hohenfriedberg March," Frederick's own composition.

It's a rattling fine military march which Sousa himself could not surpass. The whole picture, with much historical atmosphere, leads up to this grand climax.

PLOTTERS AND SPIES

Opening at the Court of Saxony, where the threads of the war plot converge, the scene shifts to the beautiful palace at Potsdam, and these pictures must have been made on the spot.

One of the first episodes brings in the Russian ambassador, complaining of some publication in a Berlin paper which he construes as a reflection on Russia. Frederick tells him he has guaranteed the freedom of the press.

Soon the plot thickens—Russia, Austria and France have agreed to attack Prussia. Saxony will join them.

ROYAL NERVES OF STEEL

A musician of the court, with a flirtatious wife, is the messenger between Dresden and Potsdam. He bears the dispatch which warns the king, and arrives at Potsdam to find the king has cut into his wife's flirtation.

Then comes the flute concert in the palace, arranged by the king to keep his enemies unsuspiciously busy while his own troops begin their march. He shows the royal nerves are of steel as he plays the solo flute part, occasionally pausing to give some order to one of his attaches.

With the regiments marching off to war the picture closes—and it's a fine historical film with Otto Gebuehr looking and acting like "Old Fritz," while Renate Mueller is charming as the fickle wife.

Frances Dee Gets Role In 'Second Chances'

The cast of "Second Chances" has been augmented by the addition of Frances Dee, Allen Vincent, Mary Carlisle, Harriet Templeton, Maude Eburne and Grady Sutton. Those previously assigned to important roles in this production include Charles "Buddy" Rogers, Richard Bennett, Charlie Ruggles, Peggy Shannon and Frances Starr. Frank Tuttle will direct this story from a play by Lewis Beach.

Plays, Players and By-Play

By WILLIAM J. LEWIS

Following a week of vacancy, the Alvin will resume fulfilling its destiny next Monday, when there will be a first performance this season of "Blossom Time," that hardy operetta about the romance of Franz Schubert, tuned up with his own music as adapted by Sig. Romberg. Seats are on the market and the b. o. doesn't care who knows it. Two mats are on the card.

Jay Fassett, leading man of "As Husbands Go," next week's Theater Guild presentation in the Nixon, bears a name that had national political prominence a few years ago. He is a son of the late J. Sloat Fassett, a Republican leader from Central New York in the Lower House of Congress. Jay also is a baritone. While "Husbands" was going in New York he appeared at several afternoon musicales. The box office will be seating you by Thursday.

Lukas, Cortez to Play In Same Film

Paul Lukas and Ricardo Cortez have been assigned leading roles in "No One Man," which features Carole Lombard and is directed by Lloyd Corrigan. Others in the cast of this film version of Rupert Hughes' well known novel are Juliette Compton, Frances Moffett, Marjorie Gateson, George Barbier and Arthur Pierson.

Off to War!

Billy Watson In Academy

With his non-skid shoes and comic chatter, "Sliding" Billy Watson heads his "Big Fun Show," current in the Academy. It is a Columbia burlesque attraction. Sam Greene assists him.

Evelyn Whitney, singer and tap-dancer; the Smith Sisters, harmony singers and dancers; Josephine Flint, prima donna, and Harry and Rose Martini in a musical and juggling act are other features.

George Monfred, singing juvenile, and Kane Brothers, speedy dancers, are also in the cast. Melba Scott and June Rhoads appear as extra features, and Mary Walton is in her third week as an added attraction.

Cleveland Orchestra Here Friday

The Cleveland Orchestra will be heard in two concerts next Friday. The afternoon concert, in Carnegie Music Hall, will be devoted to modern French composers. It will include Debussy's Petite Suite and "L'Apres-Midi d'un Faun," Ravel's Mother Goose Suite and Dukas' Scherzo, "L'Apprenti Sorcier." It will be under the direction of Rudolph Ringwall from 4 until 5 o'clock. The evening concert, in Syria Mosque, under Nikolai Sokoloff, will feature Brahms' Symphony No. 4, in E minor. Other works include Bach-Siloti Prelude in E major, Ravel's Menuet Antique, Wagner's Forest Murmurs from "Siegfried" and Rhapsody "Espana" by Chabrier.

Stage Fright Essential

Stage fright is essential to good acting, according to Stuart Walker, Paramount director, who has seen the malady almost paralyze hundreds of the leading actresses and actors of the stage and screen.

"Stage fright," says Walker, "is something to be proud of. Without it an actor becomes wooden and lacks fire. Acting is a matter of nerves and emotions and never have I seen a good actor who did not have stage fright.

"It is not a sickening lack of confidence such as assails many on their first public appearance. It is an electric nervousness that, properly controlled, spurs on to artistic heights. Without it an actor cannot vibrate emotionally to the spirit of the play."

Duke and Tech Stars Invited to Nixon

Gridiron stars of Duquesne University and Carnegie Institute of Technology, who meet for the first time next Saturday afternoon in the Stadium, in the interest of the unemployed of Allegheny County, have been invited by Harry Brown, manager of the Nixon, to witness the presentation of the Rachel Crothers comedy, "As Husbands Go," Tuesday, December 8.

Conrad Nagel Goes Into Market Business

Conrad Nagel, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer player, recently in "Hell Divers," is the latest to go into a "side business." He opened a new market at Wilshire and Santa Monica boulevards in Beverly Hills. "The Marketplace," as the new enterprise, had a gala opening with bands, electric lights and all the "trimmings" of a picture premiere.

Players Added to Cast Of Sherwood Drama

Vivienne Osborne, Arthur Pierson, Robert Emmett O'Connor, James Crane and Stanley Fields have joined the cast of "Two Kinds of Women." This version of Robert E. Sherwood's play, "This Is New York," will feature Miriam Hopkins, Phillips Holmes, Wynne Gibson and Stuart Erwin, and be directed by William C. de Mille.

Comedy Star

HAMMER, OPERA HEAD, DIES

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 1 — (INS) — William C. Hammer, 61, general manager of the Philadelphia Opera Company, died last night as he sat at a desk in his apartment preparing a speech. Physicians blamed a heart attack.

Hammer was born in Pittsburgh and educated at the University of Pittsburgh, but lived in Philadelphia the greater portion of his life.

SEEK 3 BANDITS FOR HOLDUP

Three bandits, who obtained $140 in the holdup last night at the Jennings service station, Narrow Run road near Coraopolis, were being sought by police and county detectives today.

Driving to the station, the men, all armed, ordered Frank Obid, 38, the attendant, to lie on the floor while they rifled the cash register of $100. After looting the register, the trio took $40 from Obid's pocket and sped through Coraopolis. Obid told police.

Three Bucs on Block. Game Without Penalty.
Higgins' Famous Pass. Heilmann Not Out.

OWNER GOES BACK TO FIRST CHOICE

IN GOING BACK to George Gibson to find a man for the Pirate managerial vacancy, President Barney Dreyfuss indicated a belief in the old wheeze that first impressions are always best. For Gibson was his first choice way back in September when the fact that the husky Canuck had the inside track was published exclusively in the Sun-Telegraph. Subsequent developments put the thing up in the air again, when the Pirate owner decided to avoid haste and to look around further before closing with Gibson, but in the end he swung back to his original selection.

George Gibson

The conclusion to be drawn is that Gibson was the best prospect in the available field. What men in that available field or the list of applicants included has not been disclosed, but it is evident that the man who owns the club, and who has most at stake, adjudged Gibson the best bet in the lot. The old catcher returns at a favorable time, with the game swinging back to the type he used to play and direct himself.

FANDOM'S FIRST INTEREST in the appointment naturally centers in what sort of trades Gibson will achieve in making during the annual series of meetings starting with the minor league convention in West Baden tomorrow. Adam Comorosky, George Grantham and a pitcher are believed to be on the block.

What the new skipper will be able to get for them only time can tell, but it may be set down that Gibby will not take the worst of it. Though he has been out of the game the last six seasons he has kept in close touch with it from the sidelines, he knows baseball values and he knows what the Pittsburgh club needs, so it's safe guessing that any swap he makes will will be likely to help the Rovers.

GIBSON IS BY no means the first pilot to return to the old managerial job with the other club. Bill McKechnie did it with the Cardinals, Bill Shettsline with the Phillies, Jimmy Callahan with the White Sox, and Jimmy Austin with the Browns.

Even on the Pittsburgh club no fewer than three managers besides Gibson served two separate engagements. They were Ned Hanlon, Al Buckenberger and Pat Donovan.

SEVENTEEN MEN IN all have guided the destinies of the Pittsburgh club since this city entered the National League in 1887, as follows: Horace Phillips, 1887, 1888 and part of 1889; Ned Hanlon, part of 1889; Guy Hecker, 1890; Ned Hanlon, part of 1891; William McGunnigle, part of 1891; Al Buckenberger, first part of 1892; Tom Burns, middle of 1892; Buckenberger, latter part of 1892, all of 1893, and part of 1894; Connie Mack, part of 1894 and all of 1895 and 1896; Pat Donovan, 1897; William Watkins, 1898 and part of 1899; Pat Donovan, latter part of 1899; Fred Clarke, 1900 to 1915, inclusive; Jimmy Callahan, 1916 and part of 1917; Honus Wagner, part of 1917; Hugo Bezdek, latter part of 1917, and all of 1918 and 1919; George Gibson, 1920, 1921 and part of 1922; Bill McKechnie latter part of 1922 to 1926, inclusive; Donie Bush, 1927, 1928 and part of 1929; Jewel Ens, latter part of 1929 and all of 1930 and 1931; George Gibson, starting in 1932.

Bob Higgins

PENN STATE'S FOOTBALL squad recently had another reminder of that famous forward pass play in the 1919 game against Pitt at Forbes Field, in which Bob Higgins, now head coach of the Lions, was the principal actor.

Members of the varsity and freshman squads were entertained by an Altoona sporting goods merchant, who exhibited a number of reels of football pictures in slow motion. One depicted that celebrated play, re-enacted by a Notre Dame squad, with Knute Rockne explaining by means of synchronized phonograph records the movements as they were shown on the screen.

WITH THE REAL Higgins in the audience as the pictures were shown, the Linn players roundly applauded the play when the white-uniformed Higgins of the Notre Dame squad ran for the touchdown, and they finished with a cheer for their coach.

There have been many bleak years since that 1919 Thanksgiving Day, but you can't take the moment of glory away from State grads. Each succeeding college generation learns about it soon after the fall term opens, and it is becoming one of the best known of Penn State traditions.

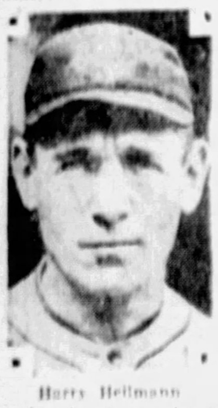
BESIDES BEING A football coach, an author and an after-dinner speaker, Gus Dorais, Detroit mentor, is also an inventor, it develops. A patent has been granted to him by the national bureau in Washington on a special type of football trousers which he has perfected. The trousers have a knee device, on the order of a bellows, designed to give the player greater freedom of action. Detroit gridders have been using the garment for two seasons, but it was not until recently that the patent was officially granted.

SPEAKING OF FOOTBALL equipment, one old-timer remarks that it weighs less and less. There is a constant demand for more speed, and reducing the weight of the equipment is accepted as the best way to obtain it. In the old days of mass play and giant linemen heavy paraphernalia was helpful, but the open game today demands the elimination of every possible ounce.

Uniforms now weigh less than 10 pounds and consist mainly of one-piece suits. They show a departure from their old dull, drab appearance, too. Trousers are manufactured in red, blue, green, orange and all other colors, with stockings, jerseys and helmets to match. It has all helped to make the game a greater spectacle.

THE DYING FOOTBALL season, the Pittsburgh portion of which will close with the big Carnegie-Duke charity tussle at the Stadium Saturday—and tickets, by the way, are going like the traditional hot cakes—has produced some remarkable games, but one standout in that respect appears to have escaped wide notice.

Ever hear of a game without a penalty? Well, it actually happened. In the recent tilt between Tennessee and Vanderbilt at Knoxville, not an offense was called nor a penalty imposed on either team during the entire 60 minutes of play. Imagine that! Nobody offside. No player holding. No back starting forward before the ball was passed. No pair of incomplete forward passes in one series. No piling up, roughing or interfering with eligible receivers. As one astounded veteran remarks, the millenium can't be far away.



Harry Heilmann

EASTERN REPORTS NAMING Harry Heilmann among the veteran players who have passed out of baseball's big show are a trifle premature. The former Tiger star, who led the American League in batting four times before coming over to the National in 1930, was kept out of the game all of last season by arthritis in the wrist of his throwing arm, and it is by no means certain that he will be able to resume in 1932. But he hasn't gone out yet, and is on the roster of the Reds, though his classification has been changed to that of a coach so that he need not be counted in the player limit. Before he can be given even an unconditional release under the 10-year rule it will be necessary to obtain waivers on him from all of the 15 other major league clubs, and no request for such waivers has yet been filed by the Cincinnati management.

SCHOOL GIVEN HOLIDAY; TRIP SOUTH OFF

By JULIUS LEVIN

Classes at both schools were dismissed following chapel exercises this morning and all theaters of that town were thrown open to the students free of charge.

H. D. Teal, superintendent of Clairton schools; Coaches George Woodman and Bill Wyke; Principals B. M. Brisson and members of the championship football team were among the speakers at the chapel exercises.

FLORIDA TRIP OFF

Clairton's proposed trip to Miami, Fla., for a charity game with the scholastic champions of that city on Christmas Day, was abandoned with the receipt of official word that the champions of Cook County, Illinois, had been chosen for the contest. Clairton had received an invitation to make a bid for the contest prior to its game with Elizabeth, but there was a hitch in the terms and the Illinois eleven was selected as an opponent for Miami.

As a result of the announcement, Clairton High brings its football season to an official close.

Clairton was chosen Class A champion and Hurst High Class B champion of the W. P. I. A. L. for the season of 1931 at a meeting of the football committee of that organization in the Fort Pitt Hotel late yesterday. The football committee is composed of J. G. Hulton, superintendent of Latrobe schools, chairman; Ralph Gardner, faculty manager at New Castle High School, and J. C. Dunn, principal at McDonald High School.

USE POINT SYSTEM

The point system was adopted by the committee in deciding the championships of both divisions.

In class A fight, Clairton, coached by George Woodman, compiled 137½ points; Midland, coached by Paul Lomond, compiled 133 4-7 points to finish second, and Washington, coached by Leroy P. Day, compiled 125 5-7 points to finish third.

Hurst, coached by Roy McMunn, had an even total of 125 points in the Class B fight, while Springdale, coached by Herbert Ripper, finished with 115 5-6. Both schools were willing to play a post-season game to settle the championship, but the committee, to be consistent, decided to be guided by the point system.

SCORES 10 VICTORIES

Clairton compiled a record of 10 straight victories this season, although only eight of them figured in the championship race. Hurst was beaten, 19-0, Waynesburg, 42-0, Scott, 33-7, Charleroi, 13-0, Monongahela, 33-0, Greensburg, 29-0, Elizabeth, 53-0, Aliquippa, 44-0, Duquesne, 27-0, and McKeesport, 12-0. Charleroi, Monongahela, Greensburg and McKeesport were undefeated prior to their games with Clairton.

Hurst's record for the season was nine victories in 11 games, McMunn's team losing only to Clairton and Greensburg, two Class A schools. It defeated Sewickley, 13-0; DuBois, 19-0, lost to Clairton, 19-0, defeated Jeannette, 12-0, lost to Greensburg, 7-0, defeated East Huntington, 6-0; Youngwood, 13-0, Mt. Pleasant, 27-0, Carnegie, 25-0, Trafford, 45-0, and Derry, 30-0.

ALTOONA CHAMPION

ALTOONA, Pa., Dec. 1.—(AP)—Altoona High was awarded the championship of the Western Division, Central Pennsylvania Football Conference, at a meeting of representatives of the 19 member schools here last night. Altoona will meet John Harris High, Harrisburg, Eastern section champion, in the conference title game here Saturday.

SCHOOLS QUIT FLOOR LOOP

Jeannette and Norwin High schools, two of the 12 members enrolled in the Class AA Football Conference, have withdrawn their basketball teams from Section VIII of the W. P. I. A. L. and will play independent schedules, it was learned today.

Last year Jeannette and Norwin competed in Section X along with Connellsville, Greensburg, Latrobe, Mt. Pleasant, Scottdale and Uniontown, but this season were transferred to Section VIII which includes Braddock, North Braddock, Rankin and Turtle Creek.

As a result of the withdrawals, all games scheduled for the teams in the league will be forfeited to the opposition as it is too late to make a revision in the basketball programs.

WEST PENN FIVES PLAY

The W. U. Rogers play the Duquesne Lafayettes in their inaugural West Penn League basketball game, on the St. Joseph court, tonight. The Ray Schneiders meet the Knickerbockers at Social Hall in another game.

BUY CHRISTMAS SEALS
FIGHT TUBERCULOSIS
THE SEAL SALE BECAME NATION-WIDE IN ONE YEAR
1931- SANATORIA HAVE INCREASED FROM 86 TO 633 - THE DEATH RATE HAS BEEN CUT IN HALF - BUT TUBERCULOSIS STILL RANKS AS FIRST CAUSE OF DEATH BETWEEN THE AGES OF 15 AND 45 so - BUY CHRISTMAS SEALS!

EXPLANATIONS OF RIPLEY'S CARTOONS OF YESTERDAY: THE BUILDING THAT DOES NOT TOUCH THE STREET—Under the structure of the new Waldorf-Astoria Hotel, at Fiftieth street and Park avenue, New York City, there is a network of railroad tracks leading to Grand Central Terminal. In fact, Park avenue, probably the wealthiest street in the world, was, not many years ago, merely a stretch of railroad tracks which have been covered over as far as Ninety-sixth street. The entire building of the Waldorf rests on gigantic legs, or steel stilts, which extend far down into the rock of Manhattan, each leg resting on an anti-vibration mat made of lead, asbestos and iron. In this way the building is entirely insulated from the rumble of trains. And all around the building is a two-inch space separating it from the street. THE MERCIFUL MURDERER—Dr. Aleksei Sukov, a Moscow physician, committed suicide on October 10, 1931, by swallowing a dose of potassium-cyanide. In an antemortem letter addressed to the procurator of the People's Tribunal in Moscow, Dr. Sukov confessed to having poisoned 10 of his patients whose ailments he diagnosed as incurable. The last of his patients was his own fiancee. In his letter the doctor reveals himself as a man of deep religious feeling, torn between the consciousness of the sin involved in murder and self-destruction, yet willing to burden his soul with the odium of "these appalling crimes" to save his patients from permanent infirmity and a lingering death. The Soviet government will erect a monument to his humaneness.

TOMORROW: THE REAL BOTTLE-BALANCE.

FREE FOOTBALLS FOR BENEFIT

Offers to do something in the interest of the charity game Saturday at the Stadium between Carnegie Tech and the Dukes still are pouring in. The latest came from Wagner and Traynor and Spaldings, to provide footballs for the tilt, which will be fought in the interest of the unemployed of Allegheny County.

Honus Wagner made his offer to John Holohan, graduate manager of athletics on the Bluff, and Chappy Couch, manager of Spalding's, made his offer to Clarence (Buddy) Overend, at Tech.

It was announced by Pitt, which is providing the Stadium for the encounter, that the Panther students would occupy a special cheering section. The Duquesne and Tech bands will be present and arrangements are being made for the Blue and Gold Band also to attend. If this plan is carried out, and the letter carriers' band puts in its appearance, there will be plenty of music on the air.

If the present rate continues in the sale of tickets, the officials of the three schools look for a fine crowd. When the tickets went on sale yesterday morning in the various ticket agencies, and at the three schools, it was necessary to form lines at a number of places and the telephones were kept busy all day long. One agency sent in a rush order for 600 extra tickets after having sold 800 the first thing yesterday morning.

Clarence (Buddy) Overend, graduate manager of athletics at Tech, will be guest speaker when the sports broadcast is put on the air from Radio Station KDKA at 11:15 o'clock tonight.

Anderson to Stay At Notre Dame, Harper Says

NEW YORK, Dec. 1.—(INS.)—"Heartley Anderson will remain as coach of Notre Dame's football team so long as I am identified with the athletic affairs of the college," Jesse C. Harper said today. Harper is boss of all athletics at the South Bend institution.

"The report that Anderson is to be removed, and that I am to take charge of football in 1932 is the craziest report I have ever heard," added Harper. "I do not know how it originated or who originated it.

"But it is wholly unfair to Anderson, and I want to reiterate that his work has been most satisfactory, and that he will pilot Notre Dame's gridiron squads so long as I have any connection whatsoever with the university."

Rooneys, All-Stars Meet in Benefit

A team of all-stars selected from the Western Pennsylvania Senior Independent Football Conference will meet the James P. Rooneys in a benefit game for needy families at West View Park on Sunday, December 13.

The Rooneys won the Conference championship for the second year in a row this fall and has neither been defeated nor tied.

A. A. TO PLAY 168 GAMES

WEST BADEN, Ind., Dec. 1.—(AP.)—The American Association will open its 1932 season on April 12 in the East and close September 18 with home and home games, President Thomas Jefferson Hickey said today. A full schedule of 168 games was adopted.

Club owners of the league gathered today for further study of the Toledo question. The committee, which studied the condition of the defunct club, had its report ready and something definite as to its reorganization was expected.

Red Corriden, former major league star, today was appointed a coach of the Chicago Cubs to succeed Ray Schalk. Schalk here for the minor league confab, was reported to be looking over several minor clubs, notably the Toledo American Association team.

Mose Butch Victor Over Jackie Rodgers

NEW CASTLE, Pa., Dec. 1.—Mose Butch, of Pittsburgh, won a decision in 10 rounds last night at Castle Bowl, over Jackie Rodgers, of Pittsburgh. Billy Brent, Pittsburgh, won a decision in the six-round semi-final, beating Mickey Dugan, of Cleveland.

Rodgers, as usual, was slow to get under way, and Butch piled up a big lead which a late rally by Jackie failed to overcome.

BOOTH TO REST

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Dec. 1.—(AP.)—The health department of Yale University has announced that Albie Booth, Yale football captain, will be sent to Gaylord Farm Sanatorium, an institution for the tubercular, "for a period of rest" within the near future. The announcement of any, however, there was no evidence of any trouble with Booth's lungs.

Fight Results

At Motor Square Garden—Tony Herrera won by technical knockout over Johnny Judith (beat stopped at end of sixth round because of cut eye); Dave Grove defeated Carlos Herrera, 6 rounds; Angelo Yergione won referee's decision over U. S. Carpentier, 6 rounds; Tony Marino won by technical knockout over Tony Shea, 4 rounds.

At New York—Kid Chocolate knocked out Maxie Lerner, 1 round; Joe Barbara defeated Sid Atlanta, 8 rounds; Antonio Campion defeated Chris Karris, 6 rounds; Vidal Gregorio defeated Sergio Madam, 6 rounds; Charley Badami defeated Vic Montante, 6 rounds.

At New Castle, Pa.—Mose Butch defeated Jackie Rodgers, 10 rounds; Billy Brent defeated Mickey Dugan, 6 rounds; Homer Gray defeated Charley Tarzan, 6 rounds; Sammy Astin defeated Teddy Mahoney, 6 rounds.

At Wheeling, W. Va.—Russ Fields defeated Johnny McCoy, 10 rounds; Peter Roberts knocked out (technical) Georgie Domenko, 4 rounds; Ed Walsh defeated Johnny Francis, 4 rounds; Frankie Reilly defeated Tommy Carlson, 4 rounds.

Hickey to Captain Villanova Eleven

VILLANOVA, Pa., Dec. 1.—(AP.)—Richard Hickey, of Everett, Mass., has been elected captain of the Villanova College football team for the 1932 season. He won the honor by a majority vote of this year's 24 winners of varsity letters.

COAST GAME OFFER WOULD BE WELCOMED

By JESS CARVER

You can lay it on the line that if this much-discussed Rose Tournament bid flits its way over the Rockies and alights at Pitt, it will be received very royally and will wind up being accepted.

Of course, the bid hasn't even been started out yet. It would appear, on the surface, as though Tulane is to be first in line, but you can't always tell from the surface the color of the fish below. It happens to be a fact that the Rose Bowl committee itself would rather have Pitt come out and meet Southern California New Year's Day than a dozen Tulanes. Hal G. Reynolds, the chairman of the Pasadena Chamber of Commerce (hold on tight) Rose Tournament Committee, is busy pulling all the wires he can lay his mitts on to get Pitt back on the Coast, and that Southern California will be urged to bid the Panthers and not Tulane, even though the Green Wave takes Washington State Saturday and completes its campaign undefeated.

WETTACH AGREEABLE

Charles Wettach, chairman of the university council on athletics at Pitt, indicated yesterday in an informal talk that Pitt would be glad to get the invitation and very likely would accept.

Also, if Tulane should desire to meet Pitt in a post-season charity game in New Orleans, and responsible parties would underwrite the game, the Panthers very likely would agree to meet the southerners.

The bid hardly will be put out until next week, or until Southern California sees how Tulane makes out with Washington State and until they dope out the advisability of inviting an eleven from the South so soon after playing Georgia. The Trojans meet the Crackers in a regularly scheduled tussle in Los Angeles, December 12.

There is small possibility of the Panthers taking on Tulane in a charity tussle, for the Green Wave's game with Washington State is a benefit affair, and also marks the Wave's eleventh tussle. Dr. Wilbur C. Smith, of Tulane, in a wired statement to the Sun-Telegraph today, put the matter this way:

"Tulane has taken care of its charity game already and we do not believe it fair to ask our boys to jump immediately into a twelfth game. You may rest assured however, that otherwise we would give a game with Pitt every consideration, as we have highest regard for Pitt."

Well, we'll let the Panthers and the Trojans and the Rose Bowl rest a while and take up the matter of this Carnegie Tech-Duquesne charity game at the Stadium here on Saturday.

EARLY SALE FINE

The formal seat sale opened yesterday, and all agencies reported splendid first-day results. Almost 3,000 seats were reserved last week, and yesterday, with requests for seats pouring in from all quarters, it was indicated that there would be a turnout of close to 30,000 for the contest, provided the game draws a fair break in the weather.

Head Coach Elmer Layden, of the Dukes, decided to rest his gridders yesterday afternoon, instead of sending them through a long drill as might have been expected. Of course, Joe Bach, the official Duquesne scout, who witnessed the Tech-New York University game in Manhattan on Turkey Day, had a few things to tell Elmer and the boys about Tech, and that is doubtless what occupied the Red and Blue yesterday.

The Tartans are on the old spot in this game. They are bound to be the favorites, no matter how much they may desire to have things otherwise, and they've a ball game ahead of 'em.

TECH, Y. M. H. A. QUINTS CLASH

Some idea of what may be expected from Carnegie Tech's highly-touted varsity basketball team may be obtained tonight when the Tartans stack up against the strong Y. M. H. A. club in the Tartan gymnasium.

The Skibos Plebes, coached by George Nease, will play the preliminary with the Y. M. H. A. reserves.

Hogan's regular lineup has been disrupted by the illness of Jim Fergus, star guard, but there will be plenty of replacements for his position.

The first game will get under way at 7:30 and the public will be admitted.

BASS LOSES ON FOUL

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 1.—(AP.)—Benny Bass, former world junior lightweight champion, failed in his come-back attempt when he lost to Jackie Pilkington, of Philadelphia, last night, on a foul in the fifth round. It was Bass' first fight since he lost his synthetic crown to Kid Chocolate here last summer and Benny had the edge until he let go a low blow after the fifth round had gone 31 seconds.

FANS DIVIDED OVER SELECTION OF GIBSON

NEW MANAGER MUST WIN CRITICS

By CHARLES J. DOYLE

Pittsburgh's baseball followers today were still a bit groggy as a result of the surprise party sprung by Barney Dreyfuss yesterday. The announcement that George Gibson had been reappointed manager of the local team was received by the fans in a striking manner inasmuch as the Pittsburgh owner not so long ago stated that Gibby was not leading the big pack of candidates.

The reaction of the fans reflects mingled emotions. Nobody will gainsay the big Canuck has thousands of boosters in the district, as he should have in view of his splendid service as a player and pilot in the period of almost 15 years spent with the Buccos. It would be unfair to George to offer any severe criticism to Dreyfuss' latest move, yet it is true that there are various colonies among the followers of the team who wish this and that, as it were.

For instance, there is the Ens' wing, which is a considerable section. During his regime in Pittsburgh the tow-haired boy from St. Louis displayed a fine knowledge of the game and he won favor both with fans and players, friendly and rival. Ens, they declared, was hard to improve upon, unless the officials of the team nursed a plan to land somebody like Frank Frisch or any other managerial candidate whose name is surrounded by recent championship lustre.

CAN'T PLEASE ALL

There are others who wanted to see Walter Maranville get the position. Still another group thought that Capt. Pie Traynor was ready for the reins of leadership, with athletes of some lesser renown having their hosts of friends.

So Gibby's reappointment cannot be said to be unanimous. Nevertheless, it would be impossible to please everybody, and the thing in order now, it seems, would be a mood of agreeableness toward the man whose rugged character and inherent honesty have never been questioned.

It is not misstating the situation to say that Gibson, like Ens, is popular with the men of the diamond. The departing pilot, perhaps, was more popular with the rank and file of players than any Pittsburgh chieftan since the one and only Fred Clarke, but Gibby absorbed many of the Clarke qualities during his long association.

ENACTS DRAMA IN 1922

The action of Gibson in quitting his managerial role on a day's notice nine years ago is up for hot discussion again now that the Canuck has been renamed to lead the club. Gibson, it will be recalled, threw the job back at Dreyfuss and left town without giving any detailed statement to the public.

Witnesses to Gibby's hasty departure have since been told of that big scene in a manner which pays a tribute to the courage of George's convictions. The Bucs were down around the cellar and apparently there was some little friction between the manager and the front office, just as there has been in nearly every club that drons in a lowly berth. Eventually Gibby decided to pull up stakes. On the day he made his decision he called his players together in the clubhouse and admonished them to win for him on that afternoon.

"But win, lose or draw," he is reported to have said. "I am giving up the managership after this game." And he made good his threat.

MUCH EXPERIENCE

At 51, Gibson looks much the same as he did when he caught the slants of an All-Star slab staff. His outdoor life gives him the ruddy glow of health and his good nature is on display even in times of stress.

Although the former maskman has been out of the sport for years he has had such a varied experience he will not be found wanting. Besides his years of service in Pittsburgh, George worked under John McGraw in New York, Donie Bush in Washington and Bill Killefer in Chicago; moreover, he managed the Bruins for a part of the 1925 season, or the year he went into retirement.

Gibson spent most of yesterday receiving congratulations. George is known intimately by hundreds and naturally he will be a busy man in his short stay in the city.

The new manager, Owner Dreyfuss and Treasurer William Benswanger will leave tonight for West Baden, Ind., where tomorrow the annual meeting of the minor leagues will get under way. Jewel Ens and Joe Devine went over to the Indiana Spa last night, as did Max Carey, new manager of Brooklyn, who spent yesterday in Pittsburgh. Bill McKechnie, manager of the Braves, plans to leave for the meeting place tonight.

Practically every major league team will be represented at the convention of the minors. The sport is so interwoven, it is expedient that all classes get together at least once a year. The Buccos may transact player business at this session, although Gibson and Dreyfuss figured there would be no trades negotiated before the date of the major meetings. The two big leagues will stage their pow wow in Chicago next week.

AL FOREMAN WINS

PANTHERS OPEN TO ROSES BID

the regular season, the Dukes came through in fine style. They tied potentially powerful foes in Georgetown and Western Maryland, defeated North Dakota and held Holy Cross to a low score.

Then, last week they went south to meet Howard College and took one on the chin.

DUKES RESUME WORK

Today, Layden and Bach will give the squad a drill against Tech formations and should spend some time polishing the Red and Blue offensive. This offense, which clicked so well against North Dakota, lagged in the game with Howard. It had better work Saturday.

The Tipoff

Here, to this clouded mind, is the best football story of the year, vouched for by a football official. Whether you believe it or not, it still makes a swell story.

It was the first period of the Yale-Green game at New Haven. Mister Alby Booth, Yale's Little Boy Blue, went hustling outside tackle, and was stopped, and stopped very short, by Caleb Smith, Georgia's all America end. Cal hit Booth a little harder than Alby was used to being hit—harder, in fact, than the Army likes to crack him.

"Oh yeah" came back Caleb.

"What's that, Mister Caleb?" rejoined Alby.

"Mister Booth," was the laconic answer.

Tune in on KDKA tonight about 11:15 and get an earful of Buddy (Hinga) Lovejoy as he talks about the Dukes' York Minster, Gayle Talbot, Bucky Harris and 11:15 are right, and his remarks on the coming ball game should be well worth while.

Pitt's varsity basketball team will take on its first tough opposition of the season Saturday night by tackling the Akron Goodyears of Akron. Leading the Akrons will be the famous Stash Wrobleski, star guard on Pitt undefeated national championa of 1928. Opposing him, on the Pitt squad, will be his kid brother, Al.

The Western Pennsylvania Football Officials' Association, junior organization of the Pittsburgh Chapter of the Eastern Intercollegiate Football Officials' body, will put on its annual banquet at the P. A. A. Saturday night. Speakers will include Bob Cadigan, Cal Butler, Judge John Keenan and Dan Daugherty, of the senior organization and the big feature will be a song by Umpchett, Hooter and Cadigan, which will be worth traveling many miles to hear. Sammy Weiss will serve as toastmaster.

Rex Very, Penn State alumnus, was named president of the Pittsburgh Chapter of the body's annual meeting in the Keystone Club last night. William H. Friswell, Jr., of Princeton, was elected vice president and Earl Cavanaugh, of Pitt, secretary-treasurer.

Chocolate Held, Refused Bond

NEW YORK, Dec. 1.—(AP.)—Elicio Sardinas Y. Montalvo, known in the prize ring as Kid Chocolate, was held without bail by United States Commissioner Garrett W. Cotter today pending extradition proceedings brought by Augusto Merchan, Cuban consul general.

Merchan is seeking to send the fighter to Cuba on a charge of abducting Rosario Mora, whose engagement to Kid Chocolate was announced July 7, 1930. Chocolate will be given a hearing Thursday.

Deputy marshals arrested him last night just after he had scored a knockout in the St. Nicholas arena.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Games Tonight

New York Americans at Toronto.
Montreal Maroons at Boston.

LONDON, Ontario, Dec. 1.—The Pittsburgh Yellow Jackets and the London Tecumsehs, who battled to a scoreless tie in Pittsburgh Saturday, will resume their efforts to gain a decision when they meet in an International Hockey League fixture here tonight.

The game is regarded as one of no little importance by both teams. The Jackets are eager to strengthen their hold on second place, a berth which they now share with three other clubs, and the locals are just as anxious to fight their way up out of the league cellar and crack into the victory column.

The Chicago Blackhawks, of the National Hockey League, have recalled Louis Holmes, center, from the Yellowjackets, exercising a one-hour recall privilege. Holmes had been loaned to Pittsburgh for seasoning. Earl Miller was sent here to replace the youngster.

JACKETS RESPECTED

Manager Clem Loughlin and his Tecumsehs returned from Pittsburgh with a feeling of great respect for the Jackets, who are reported to have one of the fastest clubs in the circuit. He has cautioned his men to use extreme caution in breaking up the thrusts of Arbour, Ingram, Gregg and Halliday. Pittsburgh's star winger men, who gave Stuart, local goalie, considerable trouble in the engagement in the Steel City.

Because they were the skaters who kept the locals out of the title play-offs last season, the Jackets have come to be regarded as the Tecumsehs' most hated rivals, and tonight's battle is certain to attract a capacity crowd. The probable lineup:

PITTSBURGH		LONDON
Cox	G	Stuart
Fraser	R. D.	Horrell
Merrill	L. D.	Hollinger
Hamilton	C.	Carrigan
Arbour	L. W.	Schindler
Ingram	R. W.	Bellanca

WINDSOR HERE THURSDAY

After meeting the Tecumsehs for the second time in as many games in London tonight, the Yellow Jackets will return home to make ready for their game with the Windsor Bulldogs at Duquesne Garden Thursday night. The Thursday battle will mark the league champions' first appearance of the season here.

Thomas Answers Boston Protest

NEW YORK, Dec. 1.—(INS.)—Answering the protest of the Boston College Athletic Association concerning his use of the word "racket" in referring to the charity angle of the Boston College-Holy Cross football game in Harvard Stadium on Thanksgiving Day, Lowell Thomas, news broadcaster, said he merely had been quoting from a newspaper editorial.

"In my broadcast on Saturday night I quoted from an editorial in the New York Evening Post concerning the football game in Boston," Thomas said. "I made no editorial comment whatever."

FLOOR LOOP TO MEET

President Lebovitz, of the Tri-County Basketball League, has called a meeting of that organization for the sports department of the Pittsburgh Athletic Association this afternoon at 2:30. He is looking for 10 teams to make up the loop this season. Rainville, with Manager Mitchell at the helm, will be seen, and Wednesday M. Yablonski, one of most popular teams in the circuit last season, also returns. Duquesne Republicans, Homestead, Monongahela and Elizabeth are expected to have representatives on hand.

CLOSE CALL FOR HERRERA

JOHNNY JADICH

TONY HERRERA — REFEREE AL GRAYBER

High spot of main bout at Motor Square Garden last night. Jadich, far behind, rallied to begin the sixth round and almost floored Herrera with a short right to the jaw. Herrera grabbing him about the legs as he sagged and almost touched the floor. Tony weathered the storm and, just before the bell, cut Jadich's right eye with a punch so badly that the bout was stopped.

By HARRY KECK

Thus Herrera, who was far ahead on points, received credit for a seven-round technical knockout victory.

Jadich had won the opening round on his forcing and dropped the next four by wide margins, with Tony moving about in his characteristic speedy fashion and hooking him at will to the head and body and pounding his body in close, while Jadich was far off his stride, missing punches by a foot and looking bad.

BOUT ENDS SUDDENLY

Then Jadich came out fighting instead of trying to box in the sixth and almost immediately he dropped in a short right to the jaw that made Tony sag. The Mexican would have gone to the floor but for the fact that he grabbed at Jadich's legs and held on. He was groggy and holding during almost all of the remainder of the round, with Jadich stalking him and trying for another good shot with the right. He landed one, but it failed to connect just right. Then Tony began to snap out of his daze and scored with a right of his own, just before the bell sounded, that ripped Jadich's right eye, causing the bout to be stopped upon the advice of Dr. J. W. McMeans, the commission physician. Jadich did not protest the action.

The victory for Herrera evened up for a defeat he suffered at the fists of Jadich at the Meyers Bowl last summer, when he was dropped for a count of nine in the first round and had to fight uphill all of the way. He scaled 136¾ pounds against 134½ for Jadich at 3 p. m. yesterday.

CARLOS HERRERA LOSES

Herrera's two stablemates under the management of Ray Alvis, of Chicago, did not fare so well in their preliminary bouts. His brother, Carlos Herrera, 141½, lost to Davy Grove, of the North Side, 143½, in the eight-round semi-final, but made a good showing and will be welcomed back. A "ringer" for Tony in looks, build and action, Carlos set a fast pace, and, but for the fact that he was floored twice, for eight in the first round and for nine in the fifth, he would have won the decision.

Herrera carried five of the rounds, losing only the third, in addition to those in which he was floored, but Grove's harder hitting and greater damage won him the nod. A butt opened a cut on Carlos' head in the sixth round and he also was bleeding from a cut on his left eye in the final round.

MARINO SHOWS CLASS

Angelo Vergione, of Swissvale, 134¾, won the referee's decision over U. S. Carpentier, of New Kensington, 132½, in the second bout, a hard-fought but uninteresting six-rounder, while Tony Marino, of Duquesne, brother of Tommy Ryan, showed a world of boxing class and a punch in cutting up and technically stopping red-headed little Tony Shea, of Chicago, brother of Eddie Shea, in the opener. Shea signaling his corner he had enough after 2 minutes 20 seconds of the fourth round. He was taking a count that had reached six after having been previously floored for three in the same round when his seconds intervened. Shea weighed 117¼ pounds and Marino 114¾.

A good-sized crowd witnessed the show. Al Grayber and Eddie Kennedy alternated as referees. Frank Brown and Frank Ferris were the judges, Norman Borland and A. C. Couch the timers and Bill Shuster the announcer.

EVENING SUN-TELEGRAPH MARKETS

Stocks Turn Up — Local Market Steady

STOCK MARKET UPTURN LED BY RAILS

Carriers Recover Early Losses and Industrials Nearly Erase Declines

NEW YORK, Dec. 1.—(AP.)—After early selling which carried a number of leading stocks down 1 to 3 points or more today, the stock market firmed. Railroad shares led the upturn, more than erasing their early losses. Industrials recovered most of their previous declines.

Railroad stocks came into the forefront in spectacular fashion because of rumors of an impending wage reduction order. As the market entered the afternoon period, gains in the carrier points on the day were extended to Delaware and Hudson, Missouri-Kansas and Texas preferred, Chesapeake and Ohio, Baltimore and Ohio, Missouri Pacific, New Haven and Union Pacific. Other leaders like Atchison, New York Central and Norfolk and Western recovered fractionally all of their earlier losses.

In the industrial issues most picture stocks were advanced to severe early pressure, but when the tone of the general market changed they too shared in partial recovery. Virtually the entire list retained one-half to three-quarters of the earlier losses in later trading, and some scored fully made up their morning declines. Activity centered largely in United States Steel, American Can, International Harvester and Case among others. Fairly typical of the action of the entire industrial group was National Biscuit, which, after an early loss of 2 points, rebounded 2 points on the rally.

It is the belief of New York bankers who have studied European developments in connection with their own foreign financial operations that England will keep the pound stabilize itself. It is their view that sterling will take a level where it represents its present intrinsic value. Artificial measures of support prior to that occurrence seem unlikely.

An estimated reduction of 26,500 barrels daily was reported in the nation's production of oil. This contributed to somewhat better feeling toward oil securities. Metal reports showed slight change, but copper producers said there was a scarcity of offerings under the 5-cent level and the opinion was that the price of copper was gradually beginning to firm.

WHEAT RALLIES AFTER BREAK

CHICAGO, Dec. 1.—Grain prices underwent sharp early setbacks today, affected by fresh breaks in British exchange rates and by New York stock market weakness. The collapse in sterling was to 3.29½, an overnight fall of 10 points. Opening ⅝ to 1⅞ cents lower, wheat afterward held near the initial range. Corn started ⅜ to 1¼ cents off and then steadied.

Credit Warning Issued by Couzens

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—Senator Couzens, Republican, Michigan, warned against an extension of credit to speculative interests in a statement that "what happens or happens not to be done at this session will have a profound effect upon the business of the country for years to come."

He added that the home relief plan suggested by President Hoover should receive careful consideration.

COTTON DROPS STEADILY

NEW YORK, Dec. 1.—Cotton opened barely steady today at a decline of 1 to 4 points on covering, mostly house, selling and scattering commission house buying, influenced largely by the sterling exchange collapse.

Trade buying was restricted and offerings were limited, but the market showed a sensitive response to the weakness in foreign exchanges. Shortly after the call, January sold off to 6.12, or 6.01 under Monday's close, and March to 6.35, or 6.45 to 6.35. Generally the active months showed about 5 points net lower by the end of the first half hour. Additional declines were extended to 10 points, December values were extended to 1,500 bales or more with sales running around 2,000 bales. At 11 o'clock prices were 7 to 8 points net lower, making the greatest decline of 10 points.

The decline carried the market to 6.00 for January, 6.34 for March and 6.54 for May, but a better trade demand developed at these figures. It was stated that absorption of recent sales by the market showed no results, inconsequence and all interest was quiet, within a point or two of the lowest showing net declines of about 8 to 11 points.

LIVERPOOL, Dec. 1.—Cotton: Spot, moderate business, more prices 2 points lower; other quotations in pence: American strict good middling 5.88, good middling 5.48, strict middling 5.28, middling 5.08, low middling 4.98, strict good ordinary 4.78, good ordinary 4.48. Receipts 2,000, American 6,000. Futures closed barely steady: December 4.78, January 4.77, March 4.77, May 4.80, July 4.84, October 4.91, December 4.93.

Tri-Continental Corp. Dividend Enjoined

BALTIMORE, Dec. 1.—Judge S. K. Dennis has signed a preliminary injunction expiring December 10 enjoining Tri-Continental Corporation from declaring any dividends pending final disposition of the petition of Janire Rayon, a stockholder, for a permanent injunction prohibiting the corporation from reducing its capital, amending its by-laws and extending the tenure of office of directors.

'What a Fool Was Morgan!' Bears Shout

By B. C. FORBES

WHAT A FOOL the late J. P. Morgan must have been, at least according to the much wiser generation of the present moment. It was that international banker, as the most influential in the world during the early part of the century, who uttered the solemn warning,

Mr. Forbes

"Don't sell the United States short."

What a fool Tom, Dick and Harry in Wall street knows that the only sure way to get rich quick is to go short of the United States and everything in it. Only a few poor boobs, as Shaw recently dubbed Americans, handicapped by familiarity with financial and economic history, are hesitating these days to sell stocks, wheat, corn, cotton 'n everything short.

HAVEN'T EVENTS lately demonstrated how smart it is to be a rampant roaring bear? Anyone foolhardy enough to venture the opinion that bearishness has already been carried too far is lambasted as ridiculed, scorned, even pilloried.

Every bear knows he sees even a shadow of doubt that everything in this country and in every other country is going to the bow-wows. Nothing is ever going to stop falling.

Yea, to hear some of the talk by bears who are both waxing wealthier and wealthier through selling short, we are approaching at lightning speed the day when it will be impossible to give away bonds and stocks unless they are used by grocers and bakers as wrapping paper—the day too when wheat will be worth so little that farmers won't bother to harvest it, and when cotton will be so worthless that it will be left to rot in the ground.

HOW THE ORIGINAL J. P. Morgan ever managed to hang on to a nickel, seeing he possessed such buggy notions about the United States is a profound puzzle to the pessimists who are now having such a delightfully lovely time. Their motto is

"Sell the United States short—and keep on selling it short; don't stop."

WHAT WILL happen to those of us who have refused to sell every bond and stock owned and have refused to join the short-selling short-cut to wealth? Maybe everyone owning anything will be busticated, and only those who own less than nothing—that is, those who are short—will be the ones remaining solvent.

Then, again, perhaps things won't end up that way. Perhaps they may end up very differently. Perhaps, in the long run, some of those who are now so certain that Morgan's philosophy was idiotic, will live to have acute cause for reversing their present opinion.

Take your choice. Follow the motto which made Morgan rich or join the super-smart Alecs who have discovered that the royal road to riches lies in the opposite direction, selling short to beat the band.

NOVEMBER'S DIVIDEND record is not as bad as October's. Last month there were 42 favorable announcements, or one more than in the previous month, while unfavorable action was taken by 116 companies, contrasted with 164 in October.

Our records do not include one way or the other, instances where directorates have announced their intention of giving dividend action further consideration on an early date. Presumably some of these dividend announcements will prove unfavorable.

December always is the most important dividend month of the whole year. Last December dividend increases were slightly in excess of reductions. Such a showing cannot be expected this year. But even so the showing is hardly likely to fulfill the fantastically pessimistic predictions now popularly purveyed.

NEW YORK BOND MARKET

NEW YORK, Dec. 1. Bond prices were mainly irregular today in a market that apparently was undecided whether to recover some of last week's losses or descend to new depths.

U. S. Government bonds were firm. Foreign dealings were confined to Dominion of Argentine Peru and Brazil, and Belgian obligations, the latter being quoted on the unofficial curb.

General American Tank Earnings for Year Put at $5 Share

Estimates are that General American Tank this year will report earnings of nearly $5 a share on its stock. This will be a comparatively good showing as the railroad equipment business has been negligible in recent months. The company has been getting some repair work, but it has not been large in common with the experience of other car builders. The big factor in the company's affairs has been its diversification, particularly in connection with leasing its equipment. The activities in food transportation have been increasing steadily and, this coupled with its other cars, has been keeping up revenues at a fair rate. It is stated a new aluminum refrigerator car has been developed from which the management anticipates good results in the future.

Latest estimates are that Monsanto Chemical this year will show earnings of a little less than $3 a share on its stock. While some months ago predictions were for a much better showing, the results were affected by conditions in the chemical industry and by the general business conditions. The fact that only $1.73 was recorded in 1930 is pointed to by many interests as reflecting a satisfactory condition this year.

Indications are that the net income of Brooklyn Union Gas this year will be slightly in excess of the $7.23 a share reported for the 1930 period. The results for the first 10 months showed a moderate increase over the corresponding 1930 period. This showing would be considered satisfactory in view of general conditions. The stock has been comparatively steady recently with transactions small. Brooklyn Union at times during the advance which ended in 1929 was one of the spectacular performers among the utilities. At that time there was active sponsorship in the stock.

Through necessity, of course, railroads are getting an increasingly strong grip on operating expenditures. Ability to maintain such control would pave the way for a decided improvement in their position with any change for the better in the general business picture which would serve to bolster the movement of freight. Pennsylvania, it is shown, got its operating costs down to the lowest level for the year in October, such expenses consuming 73.3 per cent of gross revenues. Lehigh Valley, it is understood, accomplished even more in that direction, showing an operating ratio of 68 per cent for the month, the lowest on record.

A number of outsiders with funds are understood to be awaiting for signals that liquidation has ended for a time. Opinions as to when and how this will be indicated are mixed. Some observers insist that a day or two of climatic selling should come first. Others believe a narrow trading range, with prices rising slowly from the lows established, with a reduction in the volume of dealings might signal a change in the trend for a time, with a good technical rally in prospect. However, all seem to be waiting for one sign or another before buying.

Investigation leads to the belief that a considerable part of the short interest is for what is called "outside" account. Professionals and floor traders put out lines from time to time and are among those who cover when the market is reacting abruptly. They take advantage of the liquidation and public short selling to close out commitments. Many of them do not carry positions overnight and cover before the end of each session.

Federal Reserve Member Loans Off

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—The Federal Reserve Board's statement as of November 25 shows decreases for the week of $94,000,000 in loans and investments, $73,000,000 in net demand deposits, $30,000,000 in time deposits, and $18,000,000 in government deposits. Borrowings from reserve banks increased $12,000,000, loans on securities amounted to $5,831,000, a decrease of $58,000,000, and all other loans totaled $7,574,000,000, a gain of $21,000,000.

Sterling Rescinds Texas Oil Order

AUSTIN, Tex., Dec. 1.—Gov. Ross Sterling has rescinded his order reducing the allowable in the East Texas oil field to 110 barrels per well daily from 125 barrels. He gave as his reasons that the weather was bad and other things.

Buckeye Oil Cut By Seep Agency

The Joseph Seep Purchasing Agency announces a reduction of 10 cents a barrel in Pennsylvania grade crude oil in Buckeye Pipe Lines to $1.40 per barrel. All other grades are unchanged.

SOCCER DRAW MADE

TEAMS PAIRED FOR AMATEUR CUP PLAY

By TOM BIRKS

At a special meeting of the national amateur cup committee in Cleveland Sunday, attended by Chairman William Angus, Secretary John McEwan and Western Pennsylvania Commissioner Sam Park, the draw for the third round was made.

Heidelberg meets Castle Shannon, Shannon Morrys clash with Morgan, and Bridgeville entertains Curry. The games will be played December 13 on the grounds of the first-named club.

The Curry Soccer Club of the Keystone League is back in the national tourney via the protest route. The Curry Juniors played Valdesetti against the Senior club and since the player was not registered in time for the game the committee could do nothing but throw the game out.

KRAMPF SUSPENDED

Krampf, the German Sportsville back, was suspended until December 12 by the committee and Zeewan, Castle Shannon player, takes time out until Saturday. These players tangled in a recent cup game at Shannon.

Krampf was fortunate he did not get a longer suspension. His manager was notified not to use him in the West Penn cup game and again on Saturday in the league game against Talentum, but he played, and had the National committee been obstinate he might have finished the season on the side lines.

Local cup committees may find it necessary to order all teams to provide goal nets in cup games. This has been a bugbear over a period of years, and the cup game at Monessen Thanksgiving Day brought another situation when the referee was not in a position to see whether the ball had passed between the goal posts or not. In this case the visiting club claimed the goal, but the referee, partly covered by players moving around, had no other decision but give a goal kick.

NETS NEEDED

Teams should protect themselves and the referee by providing nets. The speed of soccer football only gives the referee a fraction of a second to make a decision, and in many cases he will admit he does not know. Many near riots have started over lack of goal nets. A fast, close shot just inside or outside the post, and the fans and the teams are bewildered.

If cup committees order nets they will save embarrassing situations. Commissioner Sam Park watched the crack Ohio teams in action, the Goodyears and the Shamrocks, but feels that Curry, Morgan or the Morrys will take them this season.

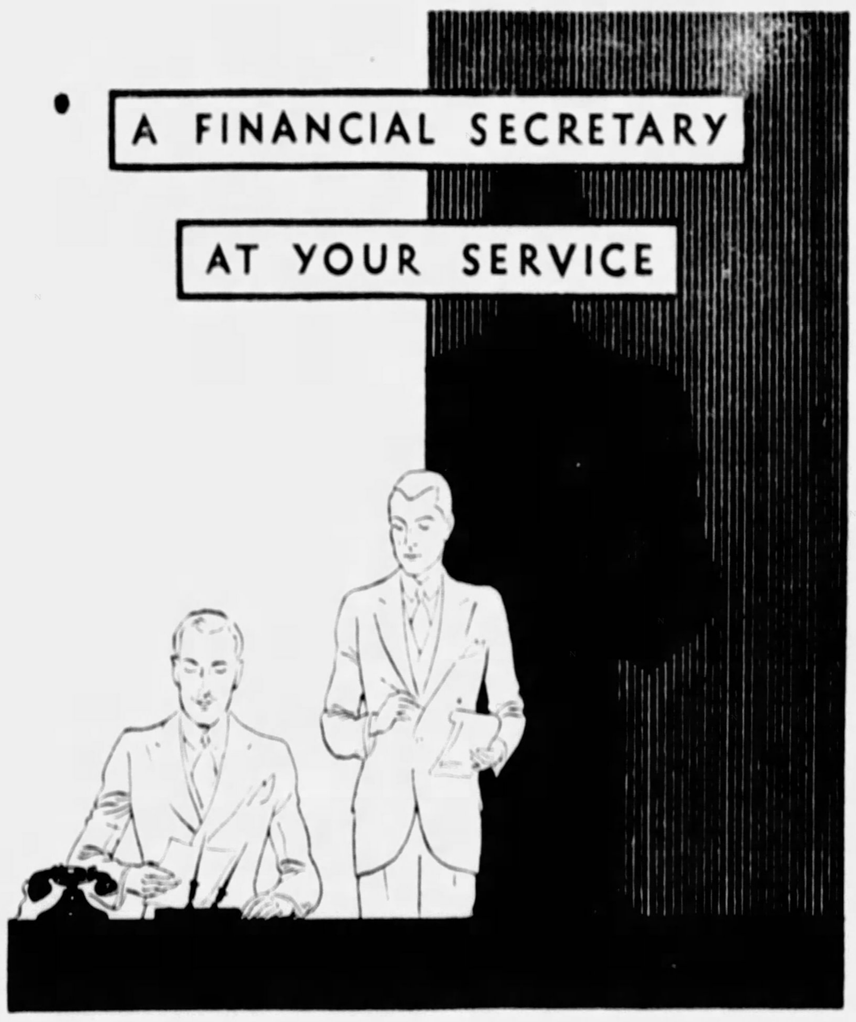
Reese Last Rites Slated Tomorrow

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Dec. 1.—Expressions of sympathy from Senator James J. Davis, of Pennsylvania, and W. R. Hopkins, former City Manager of Cleveland, today were added to the tributes paid by leaders in all walks of life here to John D. (Bonesetter) Reese, who died Sunday evening.

Funeral services for Mr. Reese will be held at 3 p. m. tomorrow at his home, 219 Park avenue, where for 20 years he had treated thousands of sufferers.

A FINANCIAL SECRETARY AT YOUR SERVICE



The "safe keeping" service of the Mellon National Bank provides a form of secretarial service for security holders at a modest cost. In the performance of this service, the Bank accepts securities for safe keeping, collects the dividends or interest on such securities, and the principal when due or when the securities are called for redemption. Funds so collected are credited to the client's account, or reinvested in accordance with the customer's instructions. As a part of its service, the Bank, when so instructed, notifies the owner of the expiration dates of conversion privileges. Through this service, the customer is relieved of many burdensome and time-consuming details. ◆ ◆ ◆

BRITISH POUND DEPRESSED

LONDON, Dec. 1.—(INS)—Despite the precipitate drop in the pound sterling, which dropped to $3.27, the lowest since England went off the gold standard, stocks closed slightly higher on the London exchange today.

The weakness in sterling was attributed in some quarters to pressure from France in an effort to compel Britain to give way to France on the subject of war debts and reparations.

Stock market observers expressed the opinion that Paris and Amsterdam had become the centers of a concentrated bear drive against the pound sterling. The famous Amsterdam bear ring which broke the franc and later broke the German exchanges, is now believed operating against British currency.

A. O. Smith Seeking New Steel Outlets

MILWAUKEE, Dec. 1. The A. O. Smith Corporation is experimenting on building of welded steel homes which may offer some advantage in costs and construction over present methods of home building. The corporation also has developed a new steel railroad grade crossing. The obstacle to its development is the inability of the carriers to purchase new equipment.

Furnaces Inspected Free

To prolong the lifetime of your furnace, it should, like an automobile, be inspected at least once a year by an expert. The Sun-Telegraph is pleased to offer this service to its readers free of charge. This is made possible through the courtesy of the firms listed below. Select one in your vicinity and phone your requests NOW, before the winter rush makes this offer impossible.

HIGH SPEED GIRL

A Story of Modern Homes And Unbridled Youth

By MAY CHRISTIE

CHAPTER X

So thought Bruce Harvey when he found himself seated in a corner there with Laurel Oakes.

How young she was! thought her companion. She looked no more than 15 in her simple white dress.

"And now we'll talk," said Laurel when the proprietress had bustled off to fill their order. "I know I've been a bold, bad girl, chivvying you around like this. But ever since I've met you I've had the most frightful yen to talk to you about myself!"

"But it's only a few hours since you met me."

"Well, I kinda feel like a sort of milestone in my young life!"

She said darling things like that, this child. Straight to the point went she with no beating about the bush.

"We've only about 15 minutes. Fire away."

"Well, to begin with, I want to say that you make me sort of ashamed of myself."

"How so?"

"So—er—I gather."

"Far be it from me! I'll keep silent and you can do the talking."

"First of all, I want a cigaret. It sort of sets my mind to working."

CHASING HAPPINESS

"Pardon my slanginess. But you know my little brain is in the sort of twist and between stage of development . . . ouch, that candle singed my nose."

"But you like fluttering close to danger, don't you."

"Ha! the man's wise. So you think I'm just another little moth?"

He laughed and reddened.

"If you mean fluttering around ME, I'm enjoying."

"How you hate yourself!"

"On the contrary."

"Quite sure? No kidding. Don't you really rather fancy yourself in the role of ministering angel?"

"Well, that's my profession, isn't it?" He lit a cigaret himself, took a puff and watched the smoke curl.

"Don't stall."

"But I thought you were going to talk about yourself. Why deserted house last night.

She was plastered to the gills, poor dear, so I forgave her. I wouldn't hold a little thing like that against me."

Love. Of course she was. And generous.

Go on.

We're frank and honest, you know . . . but we floundered awfully. Raw experience . . . that's what we're all looking for.

Hm! Sort of Mangeloire, rather.

Well, it's a muddy stream, perhaps. Some of us will flounder out with tarnish on our skins . . . and some of us will go under.

No. Some of us learn to swim . . . and maybe those that come through will think straighter . . . finer.

You know, I think and think and think about myself until often I get almost dizzy, said Laurel in her corner of the Kopper Kettle teashop, puffing a ring of smoke into the air.

She leaned towards him over the little table. I feel, despite all the different tricks I pull, I'm not getting much real kick out of life.

Her face was tilted up to his, but the look in her eyes at the moment was dreamy.

Strange little creature. He said: It strikes me you're on the wrong track. Silence between them. Then:

Have you ever read the old Greek philosophers?"

No.

Well, you ought to. In various ways they were all on the trail of happiness.

And one of them took poison, didn't he, because he was so fed up on everything too?

You mean Socrates?

I believe that was the old bird's name. I s'pose I've got the dope all wrong, as usual. But often I feel . . . oh, I don't know . . . as though we kids, for we ARE kids really, are being sort of cheated in life.

Don't you get all the liberty to enjoy?

Yes. And having grabbed our freedom and dabbled a bit in everything—experimentally, you know—we are . . . at least I am . . . fed up.

Go on. I'm interested to hear you talk about yourself.

Does it matter what I think?

It does. You're older and wiser than the boys I play around with. Except of course Roger.

She continued: Sometimes it seems to me that nothing is worthwhile any more. You know, when I left school I was really in a way ambitious. I drew not so badly, and I'd an idea I might be an illustrator or something. Also, I'm musical. I play the violin, and my teacher said that if I stuck at it I might one day be a professional. But nobody's really interested in what I do. So what does it matter? Except for turning one's brains to grabbing the plums of life—whatever they may be—to hell with being clever.

It would be a queer, topsy-turvy world if that were everybody's conception of life.

Oh, men, like you—you're different, of course. Your job is terrifically useful. I don't suppose . . . now tell me . . . do you give much thought to whether you're having a good time or not?

I'm afraid I don't.

So I was right! That's why you intrigue me so. You're unusual.

He felt a pleased glow. But he wasn't going to let her see it. He said, curtly: You ought to cut down on your smoking.

Why?

Too many cigarets?"

Yes. That's the sixth since we came in here. And while you were waiting for me, I believe you went through a package.

Laurel grinned at him impishly. Yep. I plead guilty.

Whoops! I'll be 20 next Christmas.

Ha! My heavy medical adviser dictates to me!

Granted, dear sir. Go on. You intrigue me.

But I came here to listen to you.

And I suppose you think it's a joke, or a pose, that at 19 I'm world weary?

No. But I think it rather sad if it is true. And anyhow it can be remedied.

How?

Such as . . . ?

Well, maybe the best advice I could give a girl like you is to marry and have a baby or two.

Me? Good lord! I don't like kids. And judging by the mix-ups round me, why should I leap off the dock and join the other strugglers in the whirlpool?

Hum. I'll bet if I were you and saw the things going on, I'd be twice as disillusioned, said Laurel.

Then you never expect to fall in love in the good old-fashioned way and settle down in a home of your own and be happy?

I'd like to fall in love, of course, for the thrill of it," said she, cupping her chin in her hand and looking into his eyes, "but marriage is again something different!"

How so? It's the natural thing.

To have a ball and chain on one's ankle?

Meaning just what?" He knew what she meant, but he wanted to probe further into that restless, questioning brain of hers.

A blind venture, you mean! Where would you land? And what kind of a man would consent to be your pilot?"

Synopsis

Laurel Oakes, "modern" to the minute, is invited by her friend, Imogen Gay, who is even more sophisticated, to attend a party in an old deserted farmhouse. When the party gets too wild for Laurel she leaves. Going to her roadster on a dark road, Laurel discovers the tires slashed. Running madly down the road, she is picked up by Bruce Harvey, a young physician, who takes her home. Laurel tells her mother that pleasure means more to her than love or romance. Laurel decides to make a favorable impression on Dr. Harvey when she returns home and discovers him having tea with her mother. Laurel rides to a hospital with Harvey and waits outside in his automobile for a long time until he returns.

Now Go On

SUN-TELEGRAPH-WARNER THEATERS JUNIOR KOMIC CLUB

The banner for increase in attendance and general enthusiasm goes, this week, to the Schenley Chapter of the Warner Theaters Sun Telegraph Junior Komic Club.

Nearly 1,000 children assembled Saturday morning in this theater. It was a happy, interested, orderly crowd. They arrived early and stayed late—it was a party they will long remember.

The officers elected to serve for the next four weeks are: Grand jester, Stanley Gruber; board of governors, Morris Rieth, Ralph Quick, Jerome Silverman, Helen Borowitz, Emily Horvat, Marie Ferguson.

Dauntless the Movie Dog was put through his tricks by his owner and trainer, much to the delight of the little ones. There were musical numbers by members of the club. The final chapter of "Danger Island" was shown, followed by the first chapter of a new serial, "Buffalo Bill." "Cisco Kid" and shorts concluded the program.

MANOR ELECTION

The following children have been elected to conduct the Saturday morning meetings at the Manor Chapter: Grand jester, Robert Miller; board of directors, H. Shubin, J. Bailey, H. Campbell, G. Siewald, B. Maxer, A. Moser and M. Sibilia.

The new officers at the South Hills Chapter are: Grand jester, Edgar DuPiessis; board of governors, Charles Cardarelli, William Smith, Paul Wagoner, William Oxenreiter, Milton Rothman, and Billy Rodgers.

Seventy-five members of South Hills entered the Doll Contest Saturday. Prizes were awarded by Manager Koch for the biggest, the smallest, the ugliest, the best dressed dolls. The theater looked like the doll department in a big department store. And how proud the winners were!

Next week Uncle Kay Dee, famous radio character, will visit the South Hills Chapter, bringing with him his radio company.

PRINCE AMBRIDGE ELECTS

The election at the Prince Ambridge Chapter resulted in the following members being named to serve for the coming four weeks: Grand jester, Byron Martin; board of governors, Marie Simon, Beatrice O'Connor, Evelyn Trudel; leather coats were won by Irene Grubinski and Ruth Wrono.

Members are going to share their happiness with less fortunate children Thursday afternoon from 2:30 to 5:00 o'clock, any child bringing a toy will be admitted to the theater without charge. The toys do not have to be new, for The Toy Mission has promised to mend and paint any broken toys and distribute them to poor children on Christmas Eve. Remember the club pledge—"I will do my best to spread good cheer and bring a joy for some poor child."

The Cut in the Budget

The Administration Has Made a Fair Start in the Reduction of Municipal Expenses.

Mayor Kline and his department heads have made a fair start in reducing municipal expenses. The budget submitted to Council yesterday calls for appropriations totaling $1,931,337 less than the appropriations for the current year.

If it should be adopted without change the city would spend next year about $600,000 less than in 1930, but about $2,300,000 more than in 1929, and $5,500,000 more than in 1925, the year before Kline became Mayor.

It looks, therefore, as if there were plenty of room for additional cutting, and the public certainly expects Council not to spare the pruning knife whenever in going over the estimates, it finds "dead timber" in the form of payroll padding or unessential municipal activities.

The civic organizations can give Council some helpful advice in respect to these matters. The Real Estate Board and the Building Owners and Managers' Association have already rendered valuable service and can be depended upon to keep on the watch.

There may be and probably are citizens not connected with any of the civic or trade organizations who possess information that would be of assistance to Council in making just and economical appropriations. It is to be hoped they will come forward and that a courteous hearing will be given them.

The Building Owners have asked for a five mill cut in the tax rate. All the taxpayers would appreciate such a reduction.

At the same time it must not be overlooked that the times are not normal, and that too drastic a slash in municipal expenditures would add to the army of the unemployed.

Blue Law Bigotry

Recognizing that they constitute a minority and would be beaten in a referendum, the upholders of the Blue Law of 1794, which makes it a crime to engage in certain innocent amusements on Sunday, are apparently willing to go to shameful lengths to keep the people from voting on the issue.

We are forced to this conclusion by the case of Dr. Harvey A. Surface, a member of the Legislature from Snyder County, who has been compelled to resign his position as professor of biology in Susquehanna University because he voted last year in favor of the local option Sunday bill.

Dr. Surface, it will be recalled, rallied to the support of the bill at a critical moment. He made this statement in defense of his vote:

"I voted 'aye' because this is nothing more or less than a bill enabling my constituents to vote on the subject involved—and because it plainly is neither religious or anti-religious, neither ethical nor unethical, but politic and in accordance with the statements made in my platform, in which I promised to let the people decide and vote for themselves as far as is possible."

According to the Philadelphia Record, Sabbath societies determined to "get" Dr. Surface because of his stand, and have subjected him to such persecution of abuse that he had to give up his faculty post.

It is a weak and ignoble cause that has to stoop to such tactics.

Pinchot Shows His Cards

Whatever Else May Be Said, It Cannot Be Denied the Governor Is Frank and Generous.

Gov. Pinchot showed his cards yesterday in the "poker game" he has been playing with Senator Davis, in which each bet, in effect, that the other would not give as much as he to charity.

Pinchot challenged Davis to donate as large a percentage of his income as the Governor would contribute. Davis answered by offering to give his entire income if Pinchot would do the same.

The Governor now comes back, and has probably ended the incident, by announcing that one fourth of his gross income last year would be contributed to the relief of unemployment distress. He adds that his gross income in 1930 was $52,650.

There will continue to be differences of opinion as to whether Pinchot or Davis has come out of their encounter with the greater credit.

There will be those, too, who will question the good taste of the Governor's statement.

Whatever else may be said, it cannot be denied the Governor is frank and generous.

His frankness is at times rather disconcerting, but it is better that he should take the public too fully into his confidence than that he should be too secretive, as so many of our men in public life are.

Families With Radios

Allegheny County Makes a Fine Showing, But It Should Be Better.

The Census Bureau issued today a report on the number of families in Pennsylvania, and the number having radio sets.

Allegheny County makes a fine showing. Fifty-one and nine-tenths per cent of our 312,872 families have their homes equipped with these invaluable devices for receiving entertainment and news.

The figures can be better appreciated in comparison with those for Fulton County, where only 16.8 per cent of the families have radio sets. The Fulton County folk, being mostly farmers, need radio sets, by the way, more than city people, who have other sources of entertainment.

Mt. Lebanon Township makes the best showing of any urban place in the State, as 85.5 per cent of its families have radio sets. For Dormont the percentage is 82.6, for Bellevue 78.3, and for Pittsburgh 52.3.

Every family should have a radio set. It is necessary to have one to keep in touch with what is going on in the world.

A radio set will also help to keep restless members of the family at home in the evening, and so may save wayward ones from getting into mischief.

SUN-TELEGRAPH'S PLATFORM

For Pittsburgh and Western Pennsylvania

2—Rapid Transit.
4—Establishment of Pittsburgh metropolitan district.
5—Town Hall, seating at least 15,000.

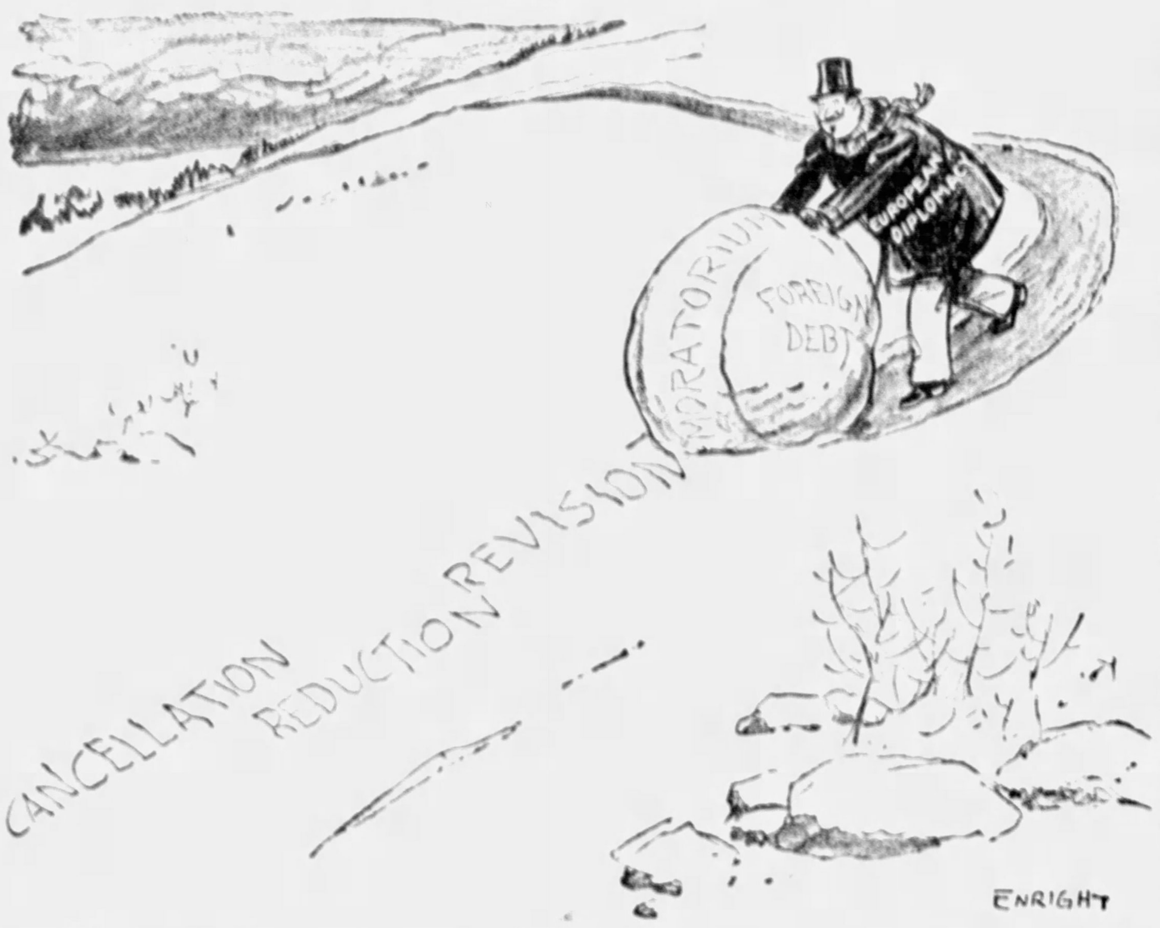
Sport in the Hills of Intrigue



Cancellation of the debts justly due and owing the United States is the goal of the suave diplomats of Europe.

They started the ball rolling when the Hoover debt moratorium for one year was promulgated.

They have already proposed a discussion of the war debt situation—"discussion" means revision, revision means reduction and reduction means eventual cancellation or repudiation of the whole indebtedness.

What great sport it is on the Hills of Foreign Intrigue!

But the American people NEVER will stand for this contemplated repudiation of debts by these envious European powers.

'The State of the Union'

By Claude G. Bowers

Author of "The Struggle for Democracy in America," "Founders of the Republic," "Jefferson and Democracy," "The Tragic Era" and other important works, now writing for The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

The Navy League has not always been entirely fair in its zeal for the maintenance of an adequate Navy; and the public awaited with an open mind the reply of the administration to the serious charge recently made against it. When the President, with a judicial gesture, called upon the league for an apology which he has not received, and appointed a commission to investigate the charges, it was observed that the commission was a hand picked jury chosen arbitrarily by the accused. This left a bad impression.

The report was precisely what was to have been expected from the source. But the analysis of this report by the Navy League is utterly devastating. It shows misrepresentations due to slovenly methods, and a cunning juggling of facts and quotations from the League's indictment more suggestive of the manner of a lawyer with a bad case than of a judicial report. Even administration organs have been shocked by the ease with which the administration's house of cards has been knocked down.

The administration has made no adequate defense, no satisfactory explanation, and the character of its reply to the charges makes more imperative than ever a thorough congressional investigation into what the administration is doing to the Navy. It is quite possible as the New York Herald Tribune suggests, that Mr. Hoover does not "understand the full responsibility of a fleet." It may be, too, that the administration's concentration on the relief of Europe does not leave sufficient time for consideration of America's vital needs.

Greater Demand For Charity

Thus far, through the utmost exertions, more money for the purposes of charity is being raised this year than last, but there is an infinitely greater demand for charity this year than last. Former Gov. Smith throws a vivid light upon conditions in this statement:

"The desperate need of the unemployed becomes more apparent as the block-to-block canvass continues. Our volunteer workers are discovering thousands of individuals who, instead of being able to give, are without means of support and have families dependent upon them for the necessities of life.

That great numbers of families in distress are concealing their conditions because of pride all of us know from personal knowledge. That the amount of money being raised from individuals will not be sufficient to prevent suffering is now apparent. For, vast as the amount is, 70 per cent will be required to meet the normal demands on charity organizations.

Whatever amount finally is subscribed, but 30 per cent of this will represent the response to the abnormal problem of unemployment. And there are 6,000,000 bread winners out of work, and the number will be increased by the progress of the winter. These, with their dependents, will easily represent 20,000,000 men, women and children.

When Mr. Hoover reports to Congress on the "state of the Union" it is to be expected that he will go into this phase thoroughly.

* * *

We Would Like to Know—

There can be no real report on "the state of the union" which does not deal with the state of human beings, men, women and children, who make the union.

We are all interested in profits and dividends, but just now humane statesmanship, worthy of a humane nation, must not gloss over the tragic fact that there are millions with whom profits and dividends are impossible and whose struggle is for mere existence.

* * *

A Ghastly Joke

We shall be interested in learning from the President's report on "the state of the Union" whether, during the last nine months the administration has had the time or disposition seriously to consider these human problems; and if so what plans for the amelioration of these conditions and the prevention of their recurrence the administration has to offer.

Of course, we all know that Mr. Hoover was speaking in the Pickwickean sense, when three years ago he held forth the hope of the elimination of poverty in his promise. That was a ghastly joke, and yet some poor souls believed it. But that is a thing of yesterday.

We shall want to know how many men actually have been put to work on public works appropriated for by the last Congress without any request from the President. And why there has been such interminable delay in getting the work started. And if the President still is opposed to the Wagner unemployment bill he vetoed after Congress had adjourned and could not pass it over his veto.

* * *

Will Be Given Sober Consideration

Any program he may submit for the amelioration of the suffering of the people who want to earn their bread in labor and cannot find a job; any plan he may submit to put great armies of these men to work; any suggestion he may offer on social legislation to give to those who work a reasonable sense of security against breadlines in the future—any program of humanity he may suggest will be given sober consideration and without thought of party advantage. For when human suffering comes in at the window politics should go out at the door.

But any report on "the state of the Union" that ignores these tragic human problems, or passes them over with pious platitudes will be a mockery.

* * *

Hope It Will Be a Human Document

In his first inaugural address, Woodrow Wilson, speaking for his day, anticipated even more the problem of our own when he said:

"Nor have we studied and perfected the means by which government may be put at the service of humanity. This is no sentimental duty. The firm basis of government is justice, not pity. These are matters of justice. There can be no equality of opportunity, the first essential of justice in the body politic, if men, women and children be not shielded in their lives, in their very vitality, from the consequences of great industrial and social processes which they cannot alter, control or singly cope with. Society must see to it that it does not crush or weaken or damage its own constituent parts."

That thought should find its way into Mr. Hoover's message, though it would mean a new departure. Ten years of market-minded statesmanship have brought their penalty in panic and privation. The humanities in government have been brushed aside with the astounding dictum that "government has nothing to do with the individual." That expresses a philosophy that Signor Grandi might understand, but it has no meaning in a democracy such as ours.

We are informed that Mr. Hoover's message will be an "economic document;" we hope it will be a human document as well.

Marry-Go-Round

BY HELEN ROWLAND

Deleting the Wedding

Every day in every way matrimony is being made easier and easier for a man to attain—and life becoming harder and harder to make him attain it.

* * *

That's the trouble with it. It is all being made SO easy for him that he is already beginning to look upon it as a "racket."

* * *

The knot can be tied by telephone or by radio—or in mid-ocean or up in the clouds in an aeroplane or just by contract according to taste or your momentary impulse. All perfectly regular—and no fuss and feathers.

He doesn't even have to court a girl or to go through the formality of proposing to her any more. He merely "pals around" with her and wakes up some morning to find himself "engaged."

* * *

He doesn't have to go tremblingly to her stern father and ask for her hand. He just drops in casually to dinner and announces to the family that he is going to relieve their anxiety and take their Big Problem off their hands—and waits for the hallelujahs and the applause. Whoopee!

* * *

And now that there are 57 ways in which he can dodge the terrors of the big church wedding and the agony of walking up the ribboned aisle, the wedding bells ought to sound more like a paean of joy to him and less like an alarm clock.

* * *

Still there are some girls who never will feel actually married without at least five bridesmaids, a 20-pound wedding cake, and a photograph in the rotogravure sections.

* * *

There is something about that "Till-death-us-do-part" ceremony with the Lohengrin accompaniment, engraved invitations, white ribbon, rice, old shoes and monogrammed silver that makes the thing seem sort of binding.

A man's crest on your silver and your stationery is lots more convincing than just his shaving brush on the bathroom shelf and his dinner coat and golf-knickers in the closet.

* * *

* * *

But the beautiful and thrilling ceremony will probably soon be in the discard, along with mustache-cups and hoop-skirts. You've got to offer a man "special inducements" to entice him out of his bachelor shell, these days! And to cut out the stiff coat, pearl gray trousers, white gloves, gardenia and stage fright, would lessen the shock.

* * *

Perhaps it is easier to marry, as it is to die, when you are unconscious—just to pass on into Oblivion in a dream of romance, before the opiate wears off.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Dec. 1.—The man most entitled to the distinction of New York's best dressed man is debatable. On Park avenue it is a coin-toss from Vienna. On Broadway Mayor Walker would win hands down. Around The Players Isaac Marcosson might receive a majority vote. At the Lambs, Earl Benham and Harry Silvey run close.

The truth is Hollywood has claimed some of the town's outstanding sartorial set-ups. At the moment, Gene Markey is leading the pack with two high hats and a one-stud evening shirt to spare. Adolph Menjou has not stepped out of the picture yet either despite his horizontally striped shirts.

William Haines, Clark Gable, Jack Mulhall and Robert Montgomery are pace setters, too, among cinemaland's style arbiters. Nor does Gloria Swanson's ex-marquis look like something the cat dragged in when he flosses up for public appearances. Jack Buchanon is the best dressed visiting Englishman.

New York for several years has had no pronounced fop such as Ward McAllister and Harry Lehr. The individual who comes nearest to setting male fashions for all the world is, of course, the Prince of Wales. His closest rival is Jean Patou, the tall and athletic Paris dressmaker.

The best dressed artist in New York is probably Russell Patterson and the palm among the bankers would go to Otto Kahn. Many consider Conde Nast as the fashion plate among the publishing fraternity and H. N. Swanson is out front as the Beau Brummel of magazine editors. And holding hard.

Among the dramatic critics George Jean Nathan whose wardrobe contains 75 overcoats is distinguished for his raiment. His frequent companion to the theater when not escorting the lovely Lillian Gish is Charles G. Shaw, a young writer and bon vivant who swings a mean walking stick himself.

* * *

Recently the fashion committee of the Merchant Tailor Association decreed every well-dressed gentleman should have in his wardrobe the following equipment: (1) Evening dress overcoat, silk or faced. (2) Single-breasted or double-breasted Chesterfield with velvet collar. (3) Full evening dress. (4) Braided morning coat with striped worsted trousers. (5) Director's suit with striped trousers. (6) High silk hat, opera hat, black homburg and derby.

* * *

Old time show-boat ballyhoo that featured comedians presenting "songs and funny sayings" has been adopted by entrepreneurs of the jazz mosques. A cabaret announces an entertainment nightly with a brand new budget of Comic Comments, Witty Sayings, Social Chatter and Sporty Songs.

* * *

Despite the enormous number of privately owned automobiles in the greater city, the hack license bureau declares New Yorkers spend millions of dollars a year on cabs. The most consistent patron is an elderly financier who taxis from upper Fifth avenue to Wall street daily, keeping the cab waiting from 11 until 4 near his office. Timid taxicabists include J. P. McEvoy and Floyd Gibbons, who insists upon non-shatter glass and a two-mile an hour pace.

* * *

Men of big affairs have their sentimental moments. I presume. In the mail today came a hurried scribble on the letter-head of a big industrial shot. It read: "This might be a plaintive idea for a struggling song writer—Somewhere I Know There Must Be a You." And it bore the initials of the great gentleman, a gentleman quoted on first pages the same day for his views about economics.

* * *

Every columnist has a few illustrious contributors who like to toss off a sonnet or lyric for print under an initialed anonymity now and then. It offers a brief escape from the monotony of money grubbing. And a number are surprisingly gifted.

* * *

By special delivery: "It is just a largish little luncheon for happily married men. Name the type of lady to whom you would enjoy talking and she will be your table companion."

Oh, just one of the Follies girls of the '90's will do. Preferably with teeth.

LISTEN, WORLD

By Elsie Robinson

That six hour workin' day—

It's going to be a Big Moment for Tom and Dick and Harry when at last it arrives.

Harry will draw the dust cloth over the piles of bargain plus-sizes and striped sweaters, grab the phone, date up Susie of the notions, to a movie.

Yes, it will certainly be glad tidings for the American Federation of Labor when the daily rap is cut down to six hours per. That is—for the MALE A F O L—BUT HOW ABOUT THE FEMALE OF THE SPECIES, PARTICULARLY THE HOUSE-WORKING BRANCH OF FEMALES?

Has anyone heard any rumors about THEIR rap being reduced? No—anyone hasn't. And the following writer has obvious doubts that anyone will.

Have you or ARE you a housework? And will you be carrying on in the Home Line Trenches—or expecting some other woman to be carrying on—for a good 10 hours after the males of the house have knocked off shift? If so, here's a letter that will fit you where you're maddest. It came to the editor of this paper.

Dear Mr. Editor:

I have been hearing about this six-hour day. It will surely be a great thing for the working men and I hope they get it. But how about the working women? I mean mostly the girls who go out to do housework.

The papers are always full of talk about how many hours men work. Did you ever stop to think how many hours women—cooks and second maids and nurses and general workers—have to work, Mr. Editor?

Generally they have to be on duty from 15 to 20 hours a day. Where there is much entertaining, or where little children have to be taken care of, house maids often work 20 hours a day, with no extra pay for extra work. Besides, they have no free lunch or supper hour like factory workers have.

Housework is the hardest work on a woman, in every way, and American houseworkers get very small pay for it. In some homes maids get as low as $5, $10 and $15 a month, while there are many who work for room and board. And besides this they have to endure any sort of treatment. There are many women who are kind to their maids and who give them consideration and comfort. But there are many who treat them like slaves, and expect them to sleep in quarters that aren't really fit for a dog.

It seems to me a strange thing that this great, strong country should be trying so hard to help the lot of men and never give a thought to the women workers.

WON'T IT LOOK FUNNY TO SEE BIG, STRONG MEN QUITTING WORK AFTER SIX HOURS AND GOING HOME TO BE WAITED ON BY WIVES AND MAIDS WHO MUST WORK 20?

T. S.—Los Angeles.

It will indeed, T. S. In fact, I suspect it will be one of those jokes that make history. For, knowing Us Gals as I do, I quail at the thought of what will happen to any male who tries Sitting Around Home under those conditions.

And yet it's plain that that six-hour day is coming for Dad and the boys. Then how about Ma and the girls?

WILL HOUSEWORK BE DONE IN SHIFTS?

Or will we presently be borrowing a leaf from our Communist neighbors and doing our housework in Community Kitchens, Community Laundries and Community Nurseries?

If not, why not—and what's YOUR plan?

The Rhyming Optimist

By ALINE MICHAELIS

The Refuge

I built a little house of hope
Where I might sometimes go
For happy hours of rest and dreams
Should harsh winds blow.
I built a mighty house of love
Walls towering, high and strong,
Where I might find a refuge sure
My whole life long.
I built a shining house of faith
All flooded through with light
And sending out its joyous glow
Against the night.

There swept a sudden wind of fear
Along life's clouded sky
That hour saw my house of hope
In ruins lie.
There came a tempest blast of hate
Against love's walls it beat
Until at length each barrier crashed
In dire defeat.
But all in vain the wild storms rage,
Their assaults fall in vain
Upon my house of faith whose light
Can never wane.

ISN'T IT SO?
